Kennedy, Mikoyan Agree On Cuba

U.S.-Soviet Negotiations To Continue

Long Parley Fails To Yield Progress On Other Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan have agreed that the United States and the Soviet Union will continue negotiations for a final settlement of the Cuban crisis.

But their lengthy White House conference failed to yield any evidence of progress toward agreement on other critical East-West issues.

The President and Mikoyan met for more than three hours late Thursday. U.S. officials had hoped the meeting would produce evidence of change in Soviet policies on arms control, or other global problems, in the wake of the crisis over Cuba.

In this hope, they were apparently disappointed.

White House sources said that from the U.S. point of view the meeting did not provide any surprises—that Mikoyan's discussion of Soviet policies produced nothing of a new or different character.

Mikoyan, who just spent three weeks in Cuba, told reporters as he left the President's office shortly before 8 o'clock Thursday night:

"We had an exchange of views with the President on questions of interest to both our countries, chiefly about Cuba. As a result of this conversation, we agreed to issue certain instructions to our representatives in New York—we to our negotiators, and the President will instruct his negotiators—to continue negotiations to finally settle the Cuban question."

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the two men had agreed "that, as a followup of this meeting, the conversations would continue in New York between Ambassador Stevenson, Mr. McCloy and Mr. Kuznetsov."

Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and John J. McCloy have been negotiating with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov for several weeks on specific problems involved in easing the U.S.-Soviet confrontation over the installation of Soviet offensive missiles in Cuba.

While no details of the conversation were made public, Kennedy presumably emphasized to Mikoyan two main points about the U.S. attitude toward Cuba.

1. That until some kind of on the spot inspection is provided, the United States will continue aerial surveillance over the island.

2. That even though Soviet missiles have been removed, the United States strongly objects to any use of Cuba as a military base by the Soviet Union.

Mild Spell Continues With December Near

Who needs Florida? December arrives Saturday and instead of the usual snowy or frigid welcome for the wintry month there will be more of the mild weather that the Tri-State District has enjoyed all week.

The Ohio weatherman said Saturday will be mostly sunny and warm, continuing a balmy spell that has seen the temperature climb higher each day. It was 47 Monday, 54 Tuesday, 59 Wednesday and 57 Thursday and may mount to 64 today.

Keep your fingers crossed, the warm spell will continue over the weekend with temperatures 15 degrees above normal. Things will get back to normal about mid-week, with scattered showers.

But to remind residents that this is not Florida, the frosty night temperatures will continue with a low of 27 to 35 due tonight. The downtown had 26 this morning.

Wildcat Strike Idles 400 At GM Facility

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A wildcat strike has idled all but 400 of the 3,000 employees at the General Motors Corp. Chevrolet transmission plant.

Both company and union officials called the walkout unauthorized.

The unit is bound for its home base in Hawaii. U Thant Due Election As U.N.'s Chief

General Assembly Expected To Give Unanimous Okay

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly meets this afternoon to elect U Thant of Burma secretary-general to serve until Nov. 3, 1966. He will lose the "acting" handle attached to his title for the past year.

The 11-nation Security Council scheduled a private meeting this morning to vote the necessary recommendation that the 53-year-old Burmese continue in the top U.N. post.

Thant's election by the assembly was expected to be unanimous.

The United States and the Soviet Union agreed earlier to give Thant a full five-year term as secretary-general. But on his insistence it will expire Nov. 3, 1966, five years from the date he became acting secretary-general as successor to the late Dag Hammarskjöld.

Hammarskjöld was killed the previous Sept. 17 in a plane crash near Ndola, Northern Rhodesia. Thant, then Burma's chief U.N. delegate, was named to serve the rest of Hammarskjöld's term.

Involve 15-Year-Old Dispute

India, Pakistan Agree To New Kashmir Talks

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru and Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan have agreed to new negotiations on the 15-year feud over Kashmir and other disputes—but the talks promise to be rough going.

Nehru indicated today he was prepared to retreat little if any from his position.

An uproar of opposition rose in Pakistan's National Assembly. A Pakistan newspaper, The Times, said officials wanted concrete results from talks and were not prepared for "academic discussions on Kashmir with anybody."

Nehru told Parliament he was not committed to a partition of disputed Kashmir as a basis of

Control Board Criticized In OEA's Action

Resolution Cites Failure To Pay On Teacher Retirement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Education Association has opened its annual convention by calling for legal action against the State Board of Control and adopting a 27-point legislative program.

The 1,000 delegates unanimously adopted a resolution Thursday condemning the Board of Control for failing to pay $12.5 million to the Ohio Teachers Retirement System.

"We believe the state government not only has acted illegally but also has discriminated against the public school teachers of Ohio," the resolution stated.

"We call upon the boards of the State Teachers Retirement System and the School Employees Retirement System to institute legal action to compel the State Board of Control to comply with the law and make immediate payment of funds due the two retirement systems."

The Control Board earlier Thursday borrowed $23 million from the liquor rotary fund to help make up a $43 million quarterly school foundation payment.

18 Per Cent Raise Asked By Gas Firm

Utility's Request With PUC Is Twice Rate Sought Of City

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. filed a petition today with the Public Utilities Commission in Columbus asking a rate increase of 18 per cent in East Liverpool, more than twice the boost it had sought in long-drawn-out negotiations with City Council.

The company's application asked these new rates: 34 cents per 100 for the first 1,000 cubic feet; 11.4 cents per 100 for the next 9,000 cubic feet; 7.8 cents per 100 for the next 290,000 cubic feet, and 7 cents per 100 for all gas used in excess of 300,000 cubic feet.

It also asked that the minimum monthly charge be set at $3.50, against the $2.65 charged now.

The company's application seeks a fuel cost clause similar to the one in the city's present agreement. Under the fuel cost clause, the company is permitted to raise its rates in East Liverpool to compensate for higher wholesale charges from pipeline suppliers.

The company's action today climaxes negotiations with Council dating back to June 1961, when Ohio Valley first sought a higher rate.

The negotiations with Council continued intermittently over the long interval. On several occasions, the concern revised its proposals downward.

In a meeting with Council Oct. 30, the company said its latest offer, filed last August, amounted to an overall increase of 8.7 per cent. The company indicated strongly at that time it would take action shortly before the PUCO if it was unable to reach agreement with Council.

Councilmen told the company's officials on several occasions that they did not consider themselves rate experts, qualified to study the utility's figures and determine a new schedule of charges.

However, Council provided a $1,700 appropriation in legislation enacted Tuesday night to hire an Akron rate expert to assist the city in its negotiations with the utility. Indications were that the rate expert would be asked to settle the question in local negotiations, if possible, or represent

Man, 2 Boys Arrested For TV Set Theft

A 33-year-old Glenmoor man and two East Liverpool youths, 14 and 15, were turned over to the police Thursday night after they were nabbed by store personnel while carrying a television set allegedly stolen from the Central Service Appliance Co. on W. 7th St., officers reported.

Officers identified the adult suspect as James Meighen of M.C. Route 22, Glenmoor. Meighen told police he has lived in Glenmoor only two weeks. He said he formerly resided in Toronto.

Frank Mangano, a Central Service official, and Jack Young, sales manager, turned over the three suspects to police at 6:07 p. m. Thursday and said they had been apprehended at W. 6th and Jackson Sts. while carrying a console TV set valued at $190 wholesale, police said.

The boys were identified as an Oak St. resident, 15, and a Bank St. resident, 14. They have been

Denies Embezzlement

Miss Smith Testifies She 'Covered Up' In Fund Loss

By GLENN WAIGHT

A picture of a distraught clerk, trapped into a frenzy of book-keeping manipulations to cover an alleged 1959 theft in the city water department by someone else, was related by Miss Roberta Smith in her embezzlement trial at Lisbon Thursday afternoon.

The former chief clerk of the department denied she had taken any of the $23,841 missing in water and sewer funds, declaring she had "covered up" an original $11,000 loss at the direction of the late Frank Robinson, then superintendent.

BUT MISS Smith, 40, stated she did not believe Mr. Robinson, who died in 1961, was connected with the money loss.

For over two hours, the pale, blonde Fairmont St. woman was on the witness stand, pouring out her story of the fiscal shenanigans uncovered by a state examiner in an audit which covered the period from May 1959 to November 1961.

Speaking in a rapid, near monotone, Miss Smith told of finding a large sum of deposits missing from the department vault in September 1959, and said she was told by Mr. Robinson to let him "take care of it."

Later, she was told to cover up the losses by withholding customers' paid water bills from the records for a period of time, but paying in the money in order to maintain an apparent balance of funds.

Miss Smith was unable to explain how the original loss, estimated at around $10,900 or $11,000, grew to the $23,841 found missing by the examiner.

SHE IS scheduled to return to the stand Monday morning for continued cross-examination by Prosecutor G. William Brokaw.

The trial, which began Monday, was recessed for today by Judge Joel H. Sharp to permit him to handle other court business.

Miss Smith took the stand yesterday afternoon about 2, and under questioning by Atty. Frank Springer of East Palestine, defense counsel, began her account of the water department shortages.

MISS SMITH, whose family moved here from Kansas City when she was a small child, was employed at the War Price and Ration Board and the American Paper Products Co. before becoming a clerk in the water department in 1952. She resides with her mother at 1321 Fairmont St. Her father died in 1958.

Under questioning by Atty. Springer, she began her testimony with descriptions of her background, daily life — "I've stayed home during the past year" — and her previous work at the water department.

She became assistant clerk when Mary McNicol left, and later was appointed chief clerk.

"DID THINGS in the office run smoothly under Frank Robinson?" "Yes, fine." "When did you first get an indication that something was wrong?" Springer asked.

"Well, one morning when I went to work... I noticed the door of the vault in the office was open a little bit, I thought perhaps someone had left it open after getting some things, it wasn't customary, but had happened once."

Hoffa, Legal Counsel Part During Trial

Teamsters' Boss Fires Old Friend, Newspaper Claims

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and George S. Fitzgerald, his legal counsel and friend for 27 years, have parted bitterly in the midst of Hoffa's $1-million conspiracy trial.

As the prosecution rested its case Thursday — following six weeks of testimony by 29 witnesses and featuring 263 exhibits — the Detroit News said in a copyrighted article that Hoffa fired Fitzgerald, who is from Detroit.

Fitzgerald's firing, the News said, followed a heated exchange last Monday between the men outside the federal courtroom here.

Fitzgerald, under subpoena as a government witness in Hoffa's trial, told the jury on Monday he swapped his personal check for $15,000 to Hoffa in return for a dividend from Test Fleet, a trucking firm involved in the trial, made out to Hoffa's wife.

Fitzgerald testified the transaction was made at Hoffa's request and that the latter offered no explanation.

The News quoted Hoffa as telling Fitzgerald: "You're all through! Turn in your books and records. And you'd better start thinking about the $75,000 loan."

The News said the loan purportedly had been obtained by Fitzgerald from the Teamsters Central State Conference, of which Hoffa is president.

Fitzgerald, who has been a Teamsters attorney since 1935, is a former Michigan Democratic committeeman.

Boys Nabbed In Stolen Car After Mishap

Klondyke Collision Blamed On Trio In Woman's Sedan

A hit-skip collision Thursday night in Klondyke led to the arrest of three teen-age boys for theft of an East End woman's auto, police reported.

The boys, two 13 and one 14, were nabbed after a crash at 7:55 on Harvey Ave. 50 feet east of Elizabeth St., which damaged a parked 1959 coupe owned by Amos A. Gomez, 312 Beaver Ave., Midland, officers said.

The suspects were found in a sedan which Joyce Swogger, 1616 Holliday St., reported stolen from her home sometime after 7 last night. The boys will be referred to County Juvenile Officer James Miller, officers said.

Gomez told police he had parked his auto to unload an invalid passenger. While he was gone, the then unidentified car struck his

Union Shop Vote Is Issue

Lockheed Strike Ends As Bargaining Resumes

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and its aerospace workers today went back to work—and back to the conference table—after a brief strike was ended at least temporarily.

Government intervention halted picketing after two days. But union leaders vow they'll strike again if demands for a union shop vote aren't met.

The company says it won't weaken its firm stand against the vote.

A special presidential committee set up under the Taft-Hartley law scheduled its first meeting today to look into the months-long contract squabble.

The committee planned first to study written reports it requested from both management and labor. Its chairman, Prof. Arthur M. Ross, of the University of California Industrial Relations Institute, said he also wants to hold oral hearings.

Picket lines from Honolulu to Cape Canaveral, Fla., quickly dissolved Thursday as strikers ended their walkout at the request of President Kennedy.

A day earlier he had invoked the Taft-Hartley law, clearing the way for a possible injunction against further immediate strikes.

Lockheed claimed the strike was relatively ineffective. The union on the other hand said 97 per cent of 55,000 possible union and non-union employees stayed out of work halting vital missile and plane projects.

Pact Calls For Pension In 6 Plants

IBOP Agreement Follows Same Term As In Generalware

Union and management spokesmen reached agreement Thursday night at 9 in Cleveland on a new three-year contract covering approximately 2,000 employees in six chinaware manufacturing plants, highlighted by the same company-financed pension plan provided earlier for workers in the semi-vitreous ware industry.

Negotiators for the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the chinaware concerns remained in Cleveland today to work out fine points in the agreement, which will go into effect Saturday.

As in the case of the contract signed Nov. 6 with the U.S. Potters Association, the new agreement provides for company contributions to a pension plan that gradually will build up to 7 cents hourly.

Beginning the first full pay after the effective date of the contract, the chinaware firms will contribute 2 cents hourly for all straight-time hours worked. An additional 2 cents per hour will be contributed beginning with the first full pay after Dec. 1, 1963, and the contribution will be boosted by an additional 3 cents hourly with the first full pay after Dec. 1, 1963.

E. L. Wheatley, international president of the IBOP, estimated the total value of the settlement as an 8-cent hourly package. In addition to the pension plan contribution, the new agreement clears up so-called inequities, clarifies seniority questions and sets a 32-hour holiday work week, he said.

The contract affects the Sterling China Co. and the Wellsville China Co., both of Wellsville, Walker China Co. of Bedford, Mayer China Co. of Beaver Falls, Buffalo China, Inc., of Buffalo, N.Y., and Jackson China Co. of Falls Creek, Pa.

E. K. Koos of Sterling - Wellsville headed the management representatives.

The contract provides for reopening, if requested after the first two years.

The management contribution to the pension plan will be in addition to a provision in the previous agreement that called for contributions of 1½ cents per dozen of ware, Wheatley explained.

The agreement came just a little over 24 hours before scheduled expiration of the present contract.

Claude Brown, 33, of near Salem was sentenced to a year in the County Jail for contributing to the delinquency of a 14-year-old Salem girl.

Anthony Eckert, 29, of the River Rd. was sentenced to six months for non-support of his four minor children.

Larry Smith, 22, of Leetonia R. D. 1 was fined $150 and given a six-month suspended sentence for buying wine for two 15-year-old Lisbon boys who attended a record hop at Lisbon High School last Friday.

Miss Patricia Tucker, 18, of Glenmoor received a suspended sentence for contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old East Liverpool girl in that she bought beer and went on a shopping trip in Steubenville. Miss Tucker must report each Saturday to Juvenile Officer James Miller at the City Hall in East Liverpool.

The office of U. S. Secretary of Defense has been in existence since 1947, when James V. Forrestal was appointed to the position.

Deputies Investigate 2 Enterings In County

LISBON — Columbiana County Sheriff's deputies are investigating the theft of over $168 in money and miscellaneous tools in two breaking and enterings Thursday.

Deputy Howard Gray investigated the theft of $168 cash and tools from the Witmer Implement Co. dealers on Route 14 a mile east of Washingtonville sometime early Thursday morning. Entry was made through a window which was broken.

Freddie's Tavern, a half mile west of Washingtonville, was also entered Thursday. Thieves who pried open a basement door took an undetermined amount of money from a juke box, bowling and cigarette machines, which were forced open with screw drivers.

Glenn Curtiss (1878-1930) built the first aircraft of any kind to cross the Atlantic.

Unwillingness To Breast-Feed

Q. My daughter-in-law refuses to breast-feed her baby because "no one else does." Is this attitude gaining in popularity?

A. Probably not. The vast majority of doctors favor breast-feeding and so advise their patients. Unwillingness of mothers to nurse their babies seems to have reached a peak during the middle of the 18th century. In 1780 the Lieutenant General of Paris Police, whose help had been sought in stamping out wide-spread child desertion, estimated that not one infant in a thousand received breast milk. The well-to-do employed wet nurses at such attractive prices that many less fortunate women abandoned their children to "baby farms" or foundling homes. The death rate in these places was appalling. Of 10,000 babies admitted to one such institution, only 45 survived—a mortality rate of over 99 percent!

"Pregnancy Pills"—Cancer

Q. I have heard that the continued use of "pregnancy pills" will cause cancer of the womb. Is this true?

A. Since 1955, thousands of women have taken "pregnancy pills" without evident harm. A statement credited to one of the original investigators of such preparations implied that the incidence of cervical cancer was less in women using the pills than in the general population, but further exhaustive study is needed to support this claim.

Easy Bruising

Q. Can anemia cause easy bruising? I bruise quite easily, especially during certain times of the month. I am the mother of two small children, both quite healthy.

A. Many women, especially those with unusually soft skins, tend to bruise easily even though all blood factors are normal. The tendency to bruise may be related to estrogen (female sex hormone) blood levels. This would account for easier bruising during certain periods of the month.

Either Way, U.S. Would Lose

The possibility of trouble between communists in Russia and communists in China is so intriguing it seems to contain itself within a single area—trouble inside the family.

But there never is trouble inside the international family that does not spread outside the family. It is foolish to think disagreement between the Soviet Union and Communist China could be limited to these two countries—as foolish as it is to think disagreement between Russia and India can be limited.

Tito of Yugoslavia is scheduled to visit Moscow soon, and it's a reasonable guess that Yugoslav communists and Russian communists will quit bickering in the near future. It's as reasonable as the guess that tension in Cuba between the United States and the Soviet Union will stay eased off because Premier Khrushchev now knows that Peiping officially regards him as a traitor to the party line and he cannot count on the moral support of Chinese communists in his dealings with the West. Re-alignment is the order of the day.

When Congress ruled that Yugoslavia and Poland were "beyond the pale" and withdrew "most favored nation" treatment of their exports, it drove them closer to Moscow. It despaired of bringing them closer to Washington, but it did drive them closer to Moscow, nevertheless.

The European Common Market also will drive communist-oriented countries closer together at a time when Russian communists have special incentive to strengthen their alliances.

There will be other realignments, and the United States will not be immune.

In a showdown between the two communist giants, it would align itself with the weaker side. This is the classic pattern in international power politics; always to diminish the strong by helping the weak.

Would China be weaker? Or is China more to be feared than Russia?

If the United States ever had to make this Hobson's choice, there would be no more illusions about trouble inside the communist family being a good thing for the noncommunist world.

Whichever side won, the United States would lose as far as its crusade against communism was concerned.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Sooner or later, Nikita Khrushchev's tactics in his global chess game will be revealed. What he gave up in Cuba may prove to have been an unimportant pawn. What he wants now is the bigger pieces—a checkmate or victory through the dismantling of the offensive bases built up by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the western perimeter of the Communist-bloc states.

The Soviet premier may have contrived the whole scheme by placing "offensive" missile bases in Cuba with the sole purpose of giving them up voluntarily, so as to be able to demand the withdrawal by the Western powers of all their "offensive" missile bases in Europe and the Middle East.

For the big unanswered question of the year is this: Why did the Soviet Union send its 40 intermediate missiles and short-range bombers to Cuba in the first place?

If it be assumed that the Soviets planned a nuclear attack on this country, then some species of insanity must have suddenly swept the Kremlin for the Moscow government all along has known that the United States has retaliatory power so massive that the people of the Soviet Union could be instantly destroyed.

THE THEORY that any "first strike" by the Soviets would be decisive has long been established as fallacious by military experts.

The mere addition of a few bases in Cuba doesn't alter the concept or give Russia any over-all military advantage against the United States or the West.

Polaris-missile submarines and American missiles on land bases overseas could still inflict such damage against the Soviet Union that nobody in the Kremlin would ever seriously direct a missile attack from Cuba against the United States as a "first strike." The fact is that there is a nuclear stalemate in the world today.

This, however, doesn't mean the Soviets will slow down their efforts to gain a military advantage wherever they can.

The first and most important objective in the minds of the Kremlin's leaders is to weaken the West's military setup in Europe. Premier Khrushchev was quick to let President Kennedy decide for himself what were "defensive" or "offensive" weapons in Cuba.

When Mr. Kennedy said the missile bases were "offensive," Mr. Khrushchev probably clapped his hands with glee for didn't this negate all the talk about the defensive nature of weapons to be used by NATO and of the establishment of missile bases in Turkey and elsewhere?

Couldn't Moscow simply declare now that the President of the United States, in dealing with the same kind of missile bases in Cuba, had said they could be used for offensive warfare?

MR. KHRUSHCHEV was described as having retreated, and the President was credited with a big victory when the Soviets withdrew their missiles from Cuba.

But the Soviet propaganda machine broadcast over the air waves of the world that the Moscow government had really made a big concession for "peace and coexistence" and now, in a conciliatory spirit, was calling on the rest of the world to do likewise.

Too many persons have concentrated their thinking on the idea that the Soviets have wanted nuclear war and nothing else.

Actually, the Russians, ever since their 1917 revolution, have assiduously tried to avoid any major war. They even appeased Hitler for a while. They have preferred to stir up little wars, such as Korea, Southeast Asia, the Middle East and the Congo.

But significantly they have sent no Russian divisions into any of these conflicts. They keep them ready for a non-nuclear war in which their superior manpower could play a decisive part.

The Soviets, moreover, carry on their worldwide crusade for international communism wherever they can, in the hope of infiltrating governments everywhere, including Western Europe.

They do not hesitate to take a step backward in one move, but then advance again in another move somewhere else on the globe, whether it be in the Middle East or in Latin America.

The game is farflung. It takes a long, long time. It's not a strategy covering a few weeks or a few months or even a few years.

The controversy over Berlin is a good example of the tactics used. This negotiation has been going on for four years now. It probably will go on for the rest of the decade. Similarly, the debate over inspection of bases in Cuba has only just begun. It may go on for years.

Meanwhile, the missile-threat maneuver may have more mileage in it for the Soviets. Some day they might infiltrate another Latin-American country and send some missiles there, only to give them up if a swap proves profitable on the propaganda side and concessions are obtained in Europe.

THE ANSWER to the riddle about the original sending of Soviet missiles to Cuba may not be forthcoming until more international conferences and summit talks are held and the Communist demands are spelled out.

Already there are hints that the West may withdraw its missiles from Turkey. Some Western diplomats are saying that the missiles there are obsolete anyway and were marked for abandonment this year, long before the Cuban crisis occurred.

If that's so, maybe a gesture of compliance with the Soviet "generosity" in Cuba will be forthcoming from the West, though it is probably nothing will really satisfy the Kremlin except the disintegration of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which has been set up as a Western defense against potential Soviet aggression.

The Bigger Stakes In The Cuban Affair

End Of A Love Affair

Johnson-Humphrey Ticket Speculated In '68

By VICTOR RIESEL
A member of THE family soon will launch the boom or a trial balloon on which will be written: "Bob Kennedy for president in '68." Whether this season has been chosen by accident or strategic design, with or without the attorney general's knowledge and permission, the feeling is that one of the trusted insiders will pique the public with the thought.

All this must be based on the presumption that Vice President Lyndon Johnson cannot be nominated for president because of northern liberal-labor opposition. This once was true.

No less a political scientist than the late "Mr. Sam" Rayburn so believed. He said so to former Ambassador Joe Kennedy, father of the President. They talked early in '59. The elder Mr. Kennedy had dropped in on the Democratic party elder statesman. As Mr. Sam later related the discussion, it went this way.

Mr. Kennedy believed his son John could not get the nomination. He believed that JFK should seek the presidency in two steps—first as vice president, then as the head of the ticket.

Victor Riesel

THE SENIOR Kennedy then suggested that Mr. Rayburn attempt to win the top spot for Lyndon Johnson. Rayburn replied he'd like a Johnson-Kennedy ticket. But he did not believe the northern bloc would permit the Texan to break through.

The rest is history, but in this instance the past is not prelude. Mr. Johnson today has greater northern labor support than any other vice president ever had. Accomplishing this has not been easy. He has had to move as swiftly and constantly as did a secretary of labor by name of Arthur Goldberg.

Mr. Johnson has gone to as many labor banquets and luncheons as an influential head waiter. There is virtually no labor project, or vital Labor Department project, with which he is not identified or on which he has not been consulted. Few vice presidents have spoken to as many labor conventions. He has talked to steelworkers, he has talked to needle workers.

ALMOST UNNOTICED by the public, he has gone to a never-ending series of swearings in.

Typical was his speech at the State Department ceremony marking the appointment of former letter carriers union chief William Doherty as ambassador to Jamaica.

Johnson related how he and Doherty had gone to Jamaica's Independence Celebration. They were the two official U.S. delegates.

Johnson said he had reported to President Kennedy later how well received was the "face of friendship which Doherty had presented to the people of Jamaica." After recounting the above incident, Johnson added, "It is right and proper that the face of the United States in Jamaica will now be the face of friendship, the face of labor."

Earlier it was Johnson who was invited by Arthur Goldberg to be a star speaker at the off-the-record briefing of labor reporters in Washington. Thus when he was up in New York recently he was able to greet scores of union chiefs by their first names.

So it does not seem likely that the same block which tried to stop his vice presidential nomination in

'60 will buck him in '68. They're for him. Which means, in effect, that they believe only the vice presidential place is open.

This could be a Johnson-Kennedy ticket, at that. But there are those who see it differently.

THEY TALK of a Lyndon Johnson-Hubert Humphrey team for the '68 election.

Few are aware that the 54-year-old vice president and the 51-year-old senator from Minnesota were a quiet team in '60. Some of Johnson's people worked very closely with Sen. Humphrey during the latter's fight against John Kennedy in the historic primaries.

And it was during those primary battles that many of the national labor leaders went in to talk to the embittered senator. They had not supported him with the money and manpower needed for his nomination drive, though he had been one of their closest allies in the Congress for years.

They looked upon Humphrey as a leader then and they do now. But they did not support him then because they did not believe he could win the primaries or the national election. They would like to back him in future political frays.

Of course the imponderable is what President Kennedy will want in '68. But if he asks the labor people now what they envision, the insiders talk of a Johnson-Humphrey ticket.

Castro—A Fallen Idol

By Warren Rogers Jr.

WASHINGTON—Fidel Castro is the fallen idol of South America. Throughout the continent, his following was on the move. But now his feet of clay are showing, and there is no longer a single spiritual leader to guide those who hold out the promise of a better life to the impoverished, oppressed masses.

The Fidelistas are confused and on the defensive. The hopes they pinned on their hero have toppled with him. Instead of a titan, first slaying the dragon Batista and then enfeebling the Colossus of the North, he is exposed as a mirage, manipulated at will by the Kremlin.

This is a heartbreaking thing for Latin American nationalists. There is so much to do—land and tax reform, health, education, welfare, means of production, redistribution of wealth, and the overcoming of other basic impediments to economic and social development. The way is hard for a reformer, and the cry to rally behind Fidel was being answered in greater popular support, the essential first step.

BUT ALL THAT is gone now. The example of Fidel shines no more for the nationalistic reformers. Their disillusionment is reflected in their own statements, in newspaper editorials, and in the boldness of governments which vote within the Organization of American States on the side of the U.S. without fear of being overthrown.

Fidel Castro cast a long shadow before he capitulated, at the behest of Russia, to the U.S. demand to rid Cuba of Soviet offensive weapons. Now, in the eyes of Latin America, he is just like everybody else, if not in worse shape than average.

He is in deep economic difficulty, cut off from his neighbors by trade restrictions, and forced to depend almost entirely on his fickle friends, the Russians, whose sphere of influence, as has been demonstrated lies thousands of miles away.

Before Oct. 22, when President Kennedy forced a showdown, there was little to offset the general image of Fidel Castro, as a demi-god, the Russians as self-effacing friends of the friendless, and the U.S. as a bumbling anachronism.

IN DEFIANCE of the Monroe Doctrine, the Communists were arming Cuba. The Bay of Pigs invasion had failed miserably. A Communist wall had arisen across Berlin with no strong U.S. reaction. A troika government had been imposed in Laos after the U.S. was forced to withdraw its objections.

The impact of Oct. 22 on Latin America was immediate and widespread. Nowhere did the blow fall harder than in two of the biggest countries, Brazil and Venezuela.

The Brazilians, who had been in the vanguard of the Castro supporters, checked signals and began a disengagement. In Venezuela, President Romulo Betancourt took heart in his back-to-the-wall struggle against Communist terrorists and guerrillas.

But the successful U.S. stare-down of Russia over Cuba will have only an ephemeral effect. While it has tarnished the symbolism of Moscow and Havana, it has not ended the search for a way out of the continent's socio-economic agonies. It may, as a matter of fact, enhance the symbolism of Red China as an example, for the under-developed nations feel a greater kinship to China than to Russia.

IT COULD, of course, provide the means for a breakthrough for the Alliance for Progress. But this would call for more statesmanship than a hitherto demonstrated by the governments of Latin America, and considerably more agility on the part of the United States.

Fingernails grow faster in the summer than in the winter, and twice as fast as the toenails. It is believed that each fingernail grows at a rate based on the length of the finger, the nail growth of the middle finger being the fastest and that of the little finger the slowest.

Airline Accidents In Cycles

It is undeniable that commercial airline accidents seem to fall into a pattern of cycles.

One accident begets another until management, pilots and passengers are in a state of frenzy, then there is a letup.

Even though a detailed study of the cycles might reveal they are less well-defined than the news makes them seem to be, they exist. Five accidents in five days indicate that the current cycle may have reached its climax.

Late last May and early June a cycle reached a climax at three major disasters and subsided during the summer months. The point is that airline operation has become so constant and stabilized accidents cannot be blamed on special factors, like auto accidents caused by heavy travel on holidays and weekends.

Mishaps arise from the unforeseen, even from the unforeseeable. Why they should occur in streaks is a mystery, though it is better that they are not spaced out in such a way as to leave a continuous impression of danger.

It must be like the grouping of mishaps in our daily lives—the near certainty that if a shoeshiner breaks first thing in the morning it will be a bad day and the wisest thing would be to go back to bed and avoid it.

Perhaps the airlines someday will reach a point of apprehension that will cause them to ground everything that flies after two accidents in a row, thereby breaking the chain that might lead to a third, a fourth and so on.

A Needed Clinic

The fund drive on behalf of the proposed Columbiana County mental clinic is running far behind the goal here, with only $2,076 of $8,000 reported.

The countywide objective is $22,000, with the state ready to match the final figure to provide a full-time psychiatrist, psychologist and staff at Lisbon.

Mental problems reach into virtually every home at some time or another. If many, many cases they are problems which could have been either solved completely or eased considerably had they received attention early enough.

The proposed clinic would set up facilities to deal with such mental situations. It is badly needed and its worth would be immeasurable. You will be performing a civic service if you contribute to the drive.

They Want Us To Be Quiet

The best minds in the speculation business are busy on the mystery of Moscow's mood of conciliation.

The Kremlin even has knuckled under on the touchy question of the United Nations secretary-general. It is reported in agreement with the United States that U Thant of Burma should be kept on the job until 1966.

This means Russia has abandoned its project to replace the secretary-general with a three-man directorship — a "troika." It means it has given up its brutal plan to take revenge on the United Nations for two secretaries, Trygve Lie and Dag Hammarskjold, who stood firm against Russia in the Korean invasion and the attempt to take over the Congo.

WHY ARE THE mysterious men who run the Soviet Union and dominate the communist conspiracy following up their Cuban backdown with conciliation? Even Berlin seems to have been dropped from their list of things to needle the United States about? What could these people want?

Obviously, they want the United States to be quiet. They want the American people and their government to be off their mettle.

Whatever the Kremlin has given top priority to is more important than anything else. This is the psychologically correct time, therefore, to upset the Kremlin by being obstreperous. It does not want the United States to be quiet because it loves this country or the American people.

It has something in the works that could be hurt by another burst of interest and activity like the U.S. reaction from discovery of a Soviet arsenal in Cuba after this had been denied in a series of official lies.

NOW WOULD be the best of all possible times to double and redouble the draft calls and mount an invasion of Cuba in the Florida peninsula.

Now would be the best time to chug up to the Berlin Wall with bulldozers and push it down.

What kind of a dumb-cluck country stretches out its neck when a would-be executioner tickles its ears and lulls it into submission?

When Russia wants the United States to be quiet, that should be our cue to raise the roof.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: We are well here and hope you and your missus are the same. Let's start from there.

You made it sound in your letter as if being well and your missus being the same wasn't as much as you thought you had coming. It would be nice, all right, if you could strike oil on that little pea patch where you love and turn into a multimillionaire.

People who don't even remember your face now would call you by your first name and solicit your opinion on problems over which you would have no more control than you have now. You would discover you had a great many more relatives than you had thought of before.

The powers that be might decide you were destined for a political career. Nothing helps a political career in these high-overhead days like a fat income for surviving lean times.

You would have friends jumping on you from every direction, reminding you of your fine qualities and being grateful for your wit and open-handedness.

Everybody would be wanting to make you a trustee of something and you would have to fight to keep from being put on boards of directors.

Your missus would be busier than a hen pecking corn on a tile floor. Everybody would be wanting her to show up at their gatherings, to give class to the proceedings. Her opinion, too, would be valuable.

Your kids would have that special outlook on life that comes from knowing they could live on the income from their inheritance if they didn't make it on their own. They would feel free to take up whatever eccentricitities appealed to them; they would be a rich man's sons.

Your support for good causes would be solicited assiduously. Provided you sneezed up enough mazoola, the beneficiaries of your generosity would give you a plaque in commemoration of your something or other and your name would be inscribed in hallways and possibly in documents locked up in cornerstones.

Photographers would take your picture. Reporters would want to know many momentous things, such as how you felt when the oil came squirting out of a hole in the ground in your pea patch. Go-la-la, you felt good, like a millionaire should!

Naturally, you would hire a ghost writer to write a book, which you would publish at your own expense so you could send copies to your friends, autographed with suitable sentiments.

All of which would be pretty exciting, but it isn't going to happen.

This could account for the tone of your letter, which sounded to your aunt and me as if you were saying, "We are well here, so what?"

It isn't easy to settle for the fact you are going to be what you are, but it's nice when you get the hang of it. We've had the hang of it for half a century. When we say that we are well and hope you are the same we are saying the most important thing we know how to say.

Say hello to the folks. We hope they are the same too.

FBI Inquiry Continues In Dirty Politics

The FBI is continuing an investigation into the distribution of anonymous political campaign literature in Hancock County in connection with the Nov. 6 general election, but the Pittsburgh office said today no arrests have been made as yet.

Prosecuting Atty. Floyd R. Tarr has in his possession the engraving plates from which two anonymous political campaign literature constitutes a violation of both state and federal laws, and the grand jury will be recalled if any arrests are made.

The two cartoons lampooned the Democratic political leadership as well as some law authorities.

They were placed in the mails shortly before the election but were intercepted by postal authorities. Federal authorities did not release the letters bearing the cartoons until about a week after the election.

Tarr confirmed reports that the FBI agents have been investigating the case in Weirton, but declared the cartoon plates were discovered by other authorities.

Public Support Cited In Address At CD Ceremony

Graduates of Hancock County's Civil Defense medical self-help training course were told Thursday night that "no industry—or community—is capable of organizing for its own self protection unless it has the support of its people."

The comment was made by E. A. Ross, vice president of industrial relations of Weirton Steel Co. at a recognition dinner in honor of the graduates, at Weirton Community Center.

Representing every church in Hancock County, 45 persons were awarded diplomas for completing the training course, sponsored by the County Civil Defense and Weirton General Hospital.

In his talk, Ross told the graduates that "in an emergency, people must turn to each other for mutual survival. We at Weirton Steel are grateful for the aid you are giving in taking this program of medical self-help."

Other guests were Mayor David Frew of Weirton, Mrs. Emma Jean Ralph, director of nurses, and Charles A. Okey, administrator, of Weirton General Hospital, and G. W. Gauld, vice president of operations at Weirton Steel.

John A. Jones, director of public relations of the steel firm, was toastmaster. Diplomas were presented by Mrs. Betty Haley of Weirton General Hospital and Norman D. Ferrari, county CD director.

Mrs. Haley said all the graduates compiled perfect attendance records for the seven-week self-help course which covered all aspects of Civil Defense.

No Pickup Planned For Old Directories

Old telephone books will not be picked up when distribution of new directories begins Monday, Donald U. Honicky, commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., said today.

Honicky suggested, however, subscribers check the pages for papers that may have been forgotten and transcribe any frequently called numbers before discarding the old books.

Some 40 persons will distribute 24,800 copies of the new directory between Monday and Thursday with an additional 5,000 being held in reserve.

The size and general format remain the same but more ANC numbers appear as the change-over to all-number calling continues, Honicky said. About 20 per cent of the customers in the East Liverpool area now have ANC numbers, he estimated.

Sanitary Board Airs Chester Plant Survey

The Chester Sanitary Board Thursday night conferred with a representative of an Ohio engineering firm concerning a preliminary survey for the city's proposed sewage disposal system.

Mayor Harry Abrams, along with John Pinney and Richard Lee, members, met with a representative of the McGill, Smith Co. of Bethel concerning the planned survey.

The board will meet again Thursday night at 7:30 to further discuss the project. A federal grant of $105,000 has been allotted for the city plant for which previous plans were prepared by the A. R. Todd Associates of Wheeling.

2 Motorists Fined

LISBON — Two Kensington area motorists were fined Thursday by County Judge James L. MacDonald. James H. Prendergast, 40, of R.D. paid $30 and costs for reckless operation and George C. Pebley, 76, $5 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Road Work Will Suspend

The contractor for a new, 2½-mile stretch of "super-highway" near Port Homer is slated to start a winter recess in about two weeks with most of the major work on the improved Route 7 link completed.

Well ahead of schedule, S. J. Groves & Sons, Inc., will apply the finishing touches to the $2,623,975 improvement when fair weather arrives in the spring.

A skeleton crew will remain on the job during the winter months, primarily for small maintenance basis.

jobs and to insure the operation of caution blinker lights.

About 80 per cent of the work has been completed, and the contractor was 30 per cent ahead of schedule at last report.

Two-way traffic was opened on one completed lane of the super-road Saturday morning for the first time. Traffic is now using a section of a north-bound lane from near the Ohio Edison Co. plant at Port Homer to a point opposite the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, crossing over to a south-bound lane for the balance of the project.

Completion date of the project is Oct. 31, 1963. Work started last spring and traffic has been maintained, frequently on a one-way

35 At Family Dinner Of Summitville Cubs

SUMMITVILLE — Some 35 attended a Thanksgiving dinner held Thursday night by Cub Pack 47 for members and their families. The dinner took the place of the monthly pack meeting.

Mrs. Audra Booth and Mrs. James Knight, den mothers, were in charge of arrangements, and guests included the Rev. Boyd Burd and Mayor Earnest Phillips.

SALINEVILLE — A hearing is scheduled Tuesday for Samuel Allison, 59, of R.D. 1 whose station wagon hit the rear of an auto on Main St. Wednesday, Police Chief Roy Lewis reported today.

Allison's vehicle struck the rear of a sedan operated by Mrs. Marjorie Burnip, 39, of 87 W. Main St. when she stopped. No one was injured, according to Deputy Robert Wilson. Allison was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Appendicitis is much more common among civilized people than among primitive people.

Clerk Insists 'Cover-Up' In City Shortage

casualty before," Miss Smith said.

"I went back to hang up my coat, then went to the vault and to the compartment in it, opened it to get the deposits, and they were gone," she said.

She said she went back to her desk, and Mr. Robinson came in later and she told him about it. "I was disturbed," she said, "We discussed it, and he said he would take care of it."

"I WOULD NOT say anything against Mr. Robinson, and I never would," she interjected.

"Did he call the police?" Springer asked. "He told me to go back to my desk, that he would take care of it. He told me emphatically not to say anything, and I didn't. I didn't know if he told the police or anybody."

She testified that she went to Mr. Robinson some time later and talked about the loss, and he told me to pay in cash but hold back stubs. "Didn't this worry you?" "Yes," "Didn't you protest?" "I didn't argue, I didn't do what I should have done about it."

"I NEVER thought that Mr. Robinson had anything to do with the money, and I don't now." "Did you realize what you were getting into?" "Not really, he was my boss and I knew he wouldn't do anything to hurt me."

She said she went to him and discussed it a number of times afterward. She told of visiting him at City Hospital when he was ill in 1960, saying he would call her at the office to come down to see him and tell him how things were at the department.

She said he had hypertension and was easily excited. "He was a very old man, but his mind was not senile," she declared.

Miss Smith said he asked her to contact his attorney about his will, and she thought perhaps he was planning to do something about the shortage with his estate. She said when his family called her after his death, wanting to know if there was a will at the office, she knew there had been no provision.

"IT GOT TO the point I didn't know what was going on," she said, adding she was also bothered by teeth trouble at the time.

Miss Smith said when she made out Mr. Robinson's retirement papers for him, he said he would "take care of it" when he could get to the office.

"Did you worry what would happen if he died?" "To be honest, it got to the point I didn't care."

"The books never really balanced then, from when the loss occurred in the vault in September 1959, there was no exact check on the department's money?" "No."

She estimated about $11,000 was missing from the vault, and said her withholding current bill stubs and crediting other stubs with current bill payments continued from September 1959 to November 1961 when the state auditor found the shortages.

SHE DISCUSSED the various routine shortages and coverages the clerks had in the office. "Were they all made up?" She replied, "Not always," saying Mrs. Joyce Rose had not paid some she had while Miss Smith worked there.

Asked if the office had much privacy, she said no, "People would come in and stand around, talking or reading newspapers, it was a loafing place for City Hall."

Springer asked her what she had done when Robert Lippincott, the state examiner, found the shortages, and she said some recollections of that period "were vague, I can't remember certain things, like my brain was wiped clean."

"But I recall we discussed it; Mr. Lippincott asked me — very nicely — about it; I never did say I took any of the money, I said I was responsible and would make it up. I tried to be nice, and gave him the stubs and cash sheets."

"WHAT WOULD have happened if you had destroyed the stubs and sheets?" She said others in the office would also have been suspected.

Her testimony also referred to other city officials, including Walter Schneider, chairman of the Board of Public Utilities; Donald Duke, who became water superintendent after Mr. Robinson's death; Lee Copenhaver, who was safety — service director until his death, and a water office clerk, Miss Ethel Flesch.

She described the meeting she had with the Board of Public Utilities regarding the shortages. "Mr. Schneider called me and asked me if I would come out to his home and I took some of my mother's nerve pills."

"I recall that I cried—I don't very often do that in public—and Mr. Schneider said he had something to ask me. I started to tell about it, and he said Mr. Robinson had worked for the department for over 40 years and nothing had ever happened, and I didn't get to tell my story."

"Someone asked about restitution. I said I didn't take the money, but I was responsible. Mr. Schneider said he understood I had bought a home, and I explained my mother had purchased another house."

SPRINGER ASKED the defendant, "Did you at any time ever personally take or use any money of the East Liverpool water department?" "No sir," she said, "that is the one thing that kept me going, the knowledge that I didn't."

Springer asked what assets she had, and she said she had some clothes, a diamond ring made from a diamond given to her, a television set and some furniture. "Do you have any bank accounts in East Liverpool or anywhere else?" "No," she said she had some Canadian mining stocks she had bought cheaply in speculation a number of years ago, but had no bonds or notes.

"You went to Waterford Park?" "Yes," she answered, smiling. "I enjoyed that." "Did you spend much money there?" "Not out of the ordinary." "Well, how much?" She said it ranged from $2 to $8 a day, and that she didn't go every day.

SPRINGER ASKED, "Did you lose any great amounts of money?" "No sir, I won. I was pretty lucky. Whenever we played cards, I won. I won several large daily doubles," she went on.

"One Saturday I bet $35. I enjoyed it, I can't lie about it." "You paid it out of your salary?" "Oh, yes," she said she won $1,666 in one daily double and over $600 another time.

"Why didn't you want to tell Duke about the shortage of over $300 in Mrs. Rose accounts?" Springer asked.

"Mr. Duke had complained about the office shortages and said he would talk to Mr. Copenhaver about it. I told Mrs. Rose not to tell Mr. Duke in order to give her more time to find it."

"WHY DID YOU add to cover shortages when you signed the invoices you gave to Mr. Lippincott?" "To indicate that I had received the money for the bills so the bills wouldn't be listed delinquent and to show that the money had been used to cover the shortage."

"What about the difference in the original loss of around $11,000, and the $23,841 which the state examiner said is short. Can you explain this difference?" Springer asked. "No, sir," "Did you take it?" "No," she said. "What happened to the rest, I don't know," Brokaw, in his cross-examination, asked Miss Smith if she had tried to find out the sum involved "in this burglary or larceny from the vault." She said Mr. Robinson made a notation of the amount which was around $11,000.

"HOW WERE deposits made into the bank?" Brokaw asked. "In a canvass bag?" "No, we put the money in a white envelope with a rubber band around it, and when it was taken to the bank, we put it into a paper bag."

He went on to ask her if she had any personal charge accounts, and she said she had at various city stores and some at Pittsburgh.

"Did you have a savings account?" Brokaw asked. "For a while," she said, "there wasn't much in it."

"Well, what about the $660 you told the state examiner you withdrew?"

"That — can I tell it my way? It was very confusing," she said. "One time in my mail collections, I was $700 short in the account, and I thought I would pay my money in until it was found. I had only $600 in my savings, but I transferred it to my checking account, and wrote a check."

MISS SMITH said she then decided that she would wait to see if the shortage continued, and if it did, she would pay then. She tore up the check she had made out, she said.

When the quarterly period checked out, she found out she had duplicated a cash sheet, which accounted for the shortage, but there was in addition, a shortage of around $400 of one of the other clerks.

"You told the examiner you put the money in," Brokaw stated. "I didn't realize that I hadn't until I got home and thought things out," she answered. "Old Eagle Eye missed there, didn't she?" Brokaw commented. "Yes," she replied, "Old Eagle Eye wasn't perfect, she was sometimes stupid."

"Is that the way you are going to try to explain away $23,000—that you were stupid?" Brokaw asked. "I'm not trying to explain away anything," she responded.

"SINCE SEPTEMBER 1959 when there was the $10,900 loss, you had been covering the shortage by withholding stubs?" "Yes, sir,"

"Allowing for the minor routine office shortages, the finding of $23,000 is almost double that first loss, isn't it?" "Yes," Brokaw asked. "How do you account for that?" "I can't," she said, "If I knew, I would tell."

"Let's be realistic," Brokaw pressed, "You as chief clerk handled all the money." "I handled what the girls turned over to me."

"If anyone had stolen the money, it would show up another way, wouldn't it?" Brokaw asked. "I don't know that it would," she continued. "Well, someone would have gotten delinquency notices, and the thefts would come out?" "Yes."

THE PROSECUTOR also asked her if she didn't handle all the mail payments which came into the office, and she said sometimes others did it. "But you did normally?" "Yes."

"Did anyone in the office take the $12,000 in the difference?" Brokaw asked. "As chief clerk, you must have some knowledge of where it went," Miss Smith answered. "I don't know."

"How do you account for your records being neat and proper until 1960?" he went on. She said there were some minor shortages before that — "I admit that they were covered up."

"Who would do that?" "The girls and I, to balance for errors," Brokaw said. "You mean shortages over the counter?" "Yes, ordinary mistakes in water bills."

"ONE TIME there was about $181 unaccounted for, and Miss Flesch and I worked for two nights trying to find it," Brokaw said. "This was before the present audit?" "Yes."

She said water bills were "held aside for people who had moved out of town and rebates would be made to get a balance. Everybody in the office knew about it."

"If you were about $11,000 short in September 1959, you would have to hold back $11,000 in stubs to cover it up?" "No," she answered, "Not all at one time."

"Why over a period of time?" Brokaw asked. "I wish I could tell you step-by-step, but I can't. I did what I did at the time, under instruction."

"You say 'under instruction.' Let's discuss Frank Robinson. You were friendly with him?" Miss Smith said, "Yes, I was fond of him."

"You wrote his personal letters?" Yes, he told my father that he was my 'father at the office'."

"I guess you owed Frank Robinson your job." "No, I knew a member of the board at the time I applied for it."

"YOU KNEW Frank Robinson pretty well to write his checks." "I didn't know how much money he had; I knew he had some property."

Brokaw questioned her about the vault losses — "You said he told you he was going to take care of it?" "I thought he meant checking on it."

"You say he had hypertension?" "Yes, he was easily excited, and occasionally got the shakes." "Would he have gotten the shakes over the shortages?" "Yes, but he wanted you to keep quiet about it."

Brokaw asked, "Why would Frank Robinson have felt obligated for the $11,000?" "He was in charge of the office."

"YOUR ASSUMPTION," the prosecutor went on, "leads to the conclusion that Frank Robinson got the money." "Not to me, it doesn't," Miss Smith stated, adding, "I wondered if he knew who did."

Judge Sharp recessed the trial at 4:05.

Earlier in the afternoon, Maurice Rapoport of Thompson Ave., dress shop operator and member of the Board of Public Affairs in 1954-55, testified as a character witness on behalf of the defendant.

Under questioning by Springer, he said Miss Smith had bought dresses at his shop, but "less than the average customer."

The current pact, which ran for two years, is scheduled to run out at midnight tonight.

The IBOP's contract with the semi-vitreous firms represented by the USPA was signed Nov. 6 in Cincinnati.

It covers eight concerns, including four in the East Liverpool area.

Propositions presented at the Cleveland negotiations were worked out by the IBOP's Chinaware Wage Policy Committee in a three-day meeting in Cincinnati in September.

The union's negotiators included members of the Executive Board, international representatives and conferees from five local unions affected by the contract.

Knowles To Retain Potters To Fill Orders

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today it worked out an agreement Thursday with the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. under which the firm will retain some workers beyond the wage contract's expiration at midnight tonight to fill final orders.

Knowles is not covered by the new three-year contract the IBOP and the U. S. Potters Association signed Nov. 6 at Cincinnati. Therefore, the company's agreement runs out at midnight tonight. It is scheduled for liquidation, but negotiations are continuing for sale of the plant as an entity.

James T. Slaven, international third vice president, met with Knowles officials yesterday to work out the arrangement for continuing partial operations, the union said. The employees who remain will be governed by all the provisions of the new contract, which takes effect Saturday, the IBOP said.

The union said some employees will be retained temporarily in the decorating, warehouse and packing departments.

Palestine Man Forfeits

LISBON — William Harry Jones, 28, of East Palestine R.D. 1 forfeited a $10 bond Thursday in Mayor Dean Stockman's court on a charge of failing to observe a stop light at E. Lincoln Way and Jefferson St. He was cited by police early Thursday morning.

auto and proceeded east on Harvey Ave., he told police.

The crash damaged the left rear quarter panel and door of the Gomez auto and the right front bumper, fender and grill of the Swogger auto, police said. The parents had filed missing persons reports with police on two of the boys.

Two of the boys were involved in another East Liverpool car theft about a month ago, Capt. Robert Pyle recalled. They were taken into custody after an auto stolen here was wrecked at Pittsburgh.

Meanwhile, an East End man was arrested on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol after his auto hit a utility pole and the porch of a home on the E. 5th St. last Thursday.

Nelson J. Clark, 39, of 449 1st Ave. was cited by Patrolman Charles A. Winters after the crash at 10:34 a.m. that damaged the cut stone base on the porch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. McVey, 153 Pennsylvania Ave. The auto also hit a nearby utility pole, officers said.

Clark was headed east in a 1955 sedan, officers said. The auto's left front fender was torn off and the right front fender was damaged, police said. Clark was unable to give a statement explaining the crash, officers reported.

Pleading "no contest" at arraignment this morning before Acting Municipal Judge Paul Tobin, Clark was convicted on the testimony of Officer Winters.

He was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail. The court indicated part of the fine may be remitted if Clark makes arrangements to pay for damage to the McVey property.

Another parked auto was damaged in a third collision Thursday at 11:38 a.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. 20 feet east of Oakland Ave., officers said.

Hazel M. Icenhower, 1732 Pennsylvania Ave., told police her 1961 model auto was hit while parked in front of her home. There was moderate damage to the left front, officers said.

The woman said an auto carrying Pennsylvania license plates hit her car. The driver returned to the scene, but did not give his name or address, she said. Two witnesses told police the Pennsylvania auto was on the wrong side of the street at the time of the crash. Police were given the license number of the offending driver.

referred to County Juvenile Officer James Miller.

Meighen pleaded not guilty when arraigned this morning before Acting Municipal Judge Paul Tobin on a grand larceny charge. He requested time to obtain counsel, so his preliminary hearing was continued until Monday at 9 a. m. Bond was set at $1,000.

Meighen, in a statement to police, said he saw a man coming out of the Central Service store carrying a TV set and the unidentified man asked Meighen to help carry the set to his car.

Meighen said he started up Jackson St. alone carrying the set and spotted the two boys, so asked them to help him. He said the trio had carried the set as far as W. 6th and Jackson when they were halted by Mangano and Young. He did not explain the disappearance of the man who allegedly asked him to carry the set.

The boys told essentially the same story, police said. The youths said they saw Meighen carrying the set. When he asked for help, they said, they helped with the TV set as far as W. 6th and Jackson. Meighen thanked them and they started to walk away when they were nabbed by Mangano and Young, they said.

the city in Columbus if the case went to the PUCO.

The concern had offered the city a four-year contract if the agreement could be reached in local negotiations. The PUCO generally fixes schedules for a maximum of two years.

The utility's August offer to the city provided for a charge of 30 cents per hundred for the first 1,300 cubic feet; 7.82 cents per hundred for the next 298,000 cubic feet and 7 cents per 100 for all over 300,000 cubic feet. The August proposal would have retained the $2.65 monthly minimum charge.

The company's first four-year proposal to the city offered a rate of 31.7 cents per 100 for the first 2,000 cubic feet; 7.8 cents per 100 for the next 298,000 and 7 cents for all over 300,000 cubic feet. The minimum monthly charge would have been $3.17.

As an example of the billing structure, the company told Council 9,000 cubic feet of gas costs $8.88 under the present rate. Under the rate it proposed in August, the charge for 9,000 cubic feet would have been raised to $9.93. The first four-year proposal would have set a charge of $11.80 for 9,000 cubic feet, it said.

The negotiations here spread across the tenures of two City Councils. The group with which the firm opened negotiations left office on Dec. 31, 1961. The present Council, comprised of entirely new faces, took over last Jan. 1.

Dr. R. E. Flood and Dr. George Kosar of Weirton will be in charge of the New Cumberland clinic.

Sponsors said Type II of the Sabin vaccine will probably be provided in January at the same sites.

Other counties participating include Brooke, Ohio and Marshall in West Virginia, and Harrison and Belmont in Ohio.

The headache is the most common physical affliction suffered by man.

Secretaries Set Clinic Drive In Business Firms

The East Liverpool chapter of the National Secretaries Association will undertake a followup solicitation of businesses and industries in a fund drive for a mental clinic at Lisbon H. James Allison, business chairman of the city drive, announced today.

Allison said officers of the secretaries' group agreed to head the campaign, and are making arrangements for the drive to start Monday.

Letters have already been mailed to businesses and industries, explaining the countywide effort to obtain $22,000, which is to be matched by state funds for establishing a mental clinic with a full-time psychiatrist, psychologist and staff.

The city goal is $8,000. A house-to-house drive earlier this month, along with other contributions, has netted about $2,000.

The U.S. invaded North Africa in November of 1942 during World War II.

Wayne Township Farm Gets Award In Soil Conservation

LISBON — A Wayne Township farmer and son were named "Farmers of the Year" and two were re-elected to the board of supervisors at the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Soil Conservation District Thursday evening at Crestview High School. Over 125 attended.

Dawson Irey, Winona dairy farmer, and James Ewing, Gavers Dairy farmer, were returned to the board for three-year terms. Other nominees were George Simmons of New Waterford and Phillip Goehring of Columbiana R.D.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: May I suggest that when housewives buy appliances, they read "Joe Blow's" instructions and guarantees?

Warranties and guarantees vary. Read the warranty not just once, but twice, before purchasing an item. This usually comes from the manufacturer himself. One might get a 90 days guarantee but the warranty might last up to five years!

When buying a refrigerator or an air conditioner, ask for a warranty. Most manufacturers give this freely.

This may not sound like good advice but it really is. That housewife (4½ years from now) might have her refrigerator go on the "konk". When she has to pay money out of her budget to have a new sealed refrigerator unit put in, she will see that it pays to read her warranties.

My husband was in this business 32 years. Now that he is retired I can reveal this. Glad he has no competition today.

DEALER'S WIFE.

DEAR HELOISE: Can anyone tell us how to remove ballpoint pen ink from a leather purse? I am at my wit's end.

ANNIE.

Has anyone ever been able to remove ballpoint pen ink from a genuine leather purse? Or better yet, from certain types of plastic? We would be ever so grateful if you would take the time to jot us a note to let us know how you did it! Letters do not have to be signed to appear in this column. Send your letters, trials and tribulations to Heloise in care of The Review.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: We bought a sectional sofa with square legs and then found that the sections separated at odd moments (such as when an unwary guest sat on the crack between the sections!) Rubber caps did not fit under the square legs. Then my husband's mother suggested small squares of foam rubber the size of the legs themselves. Result:

No more "wiggles" and separations, and best of all the foam rubber doesn't even show.

JOAN GRIMMA.

DEAR HELOISE: When I re-string my beads, I lay them out on a terry cloth towel. They do not roll away and are easier to string when this method is used.

Also, don't use a needle. Try nail polish on the end of your thread! It works fine.

ESTELLE.

DEAR HELOISE: To shorten my slips which are too long... I sew a tuck on the right side of the slip just above the trim at the hem.

Too, when longer dresses do come back into style all one has to do is rip out this little row of stitching and the slip will be lengthened again.

CAROLINE R. BLEBINS.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint I have used for years:

Take three plastic bags—even those with the round holes in them — and put them in your sewing machine drawer.

Put all the bias tape in one, seam binding in one, and elastic in another. It really helps to keep things orderly.

MRS. MARY HOLEY.

DEAR HELOISE: The perfect "rest" for my portable mixer while mixing cookies or a cake is my carton of salt! Try it. It's wonderful!

BARBARA FOUTS.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child Should Know Art Of Whispering

You and I know some adults, especially men, who seem never to have learned to whisper. When they want to say a few words to us in a meeting where quiet is desirable, they try to talk low but embarrass us by their voices which disturb others. A god many years ago, when I began teaching Dr. Garry Meyers in a high school, I was annoyed by the buzzing sounds of the students when they were innocently communicating. It was some while before they learned to whisper.

OF COURSE, MANY a school child has been rebuked or punished for whispering. It's not for the sound he makes, but for the evidence that he is talking when he is not supposed to talk.

In the modern school, the child usually feels free to talk to his classmate about what they are learning so long as he doesn't disturb the other children.

Sometimes in special small groups, children talk aloud with approval, though in subdued voices. But, as any teacher knows, it's desirable that children learn to whisper at certain times. It's fascinating to the young child to learn to whisper and to his parents when he first can whisper. He probably learns to whisper from hearing his mother whisper to him when she wishes to tell him something privately.

THERE ARE MANY times, as you know, when it is desirable to have the young child whisper to you.

Then, for a number of years, he may play games in which information is whispered by one child to another.

All this is very different, however, from whispering between two children when there is company or at a party where everyone should properly share conversation with all others present.

For two children to whisper and giggle over something for their private fun then can prove very odious to other persons nearby.

Try to teach your child that such a practice is very rude. He may more readily strive to discontinue this rudeness if you point out to him that in a social gathering everyone feels more comfortable and happy when he can share in the conversation and when no one speaks or acts in a way that will keep him from doing so.

WHISPERING ONLY when one should is a matter of good manners. In a family of growing children, a dinner conversation about when one should whisper and when one should not could prove interesting and profitable.

When one or more young children, at certain times speak loudly, you might cause them to speak more softly if, instead of telling them to do so, you were to speak very quietly yourself, even were to whisper.

My bulletin, "Good Manners Make You Likeable", may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

First Yule Tree Due At Industry

Industry will have its first lighted community Christmas tree this year with approval of Borough Council. Plans for the project were launched by Industry Borough Women's Club at the November council meeting.

Mrs. Jack M. Peck, club chairman for the project, said the various organizations in the borough may participate by contributing funds and Industry schools and Girl and Boy Scout troops can contribute by making waterproof decorations. More ornaments will be added each year.

Donation jars will be placed at business establishments with Mrs. Leroy Dunn in charge. Residents may contribute by contacting Mrs. Peck, Box 730, Industry, Pa., R.D. 2.

James Muns, Council president, said arrangements will be made to install the tree in front of the borough building with volunteer assistance as soon as one is obtained either by donation or purchase. Anyone desiring to donate a 12 to 15-foot tree may contact Muns or Mrs. Peck.

27 Attend Dinner Of Nebo Grange

LISBON — Twenty-seven attended the covered dinner held by the Mt. Nebo Grange Wednesday evening at the Grange Hall.

A film, "Agriculture USA" was shown. A $75 bond was received by the Grange as winner of the community service award last year, along with bar to add to its plaque. A plastic Grange sign was also received as county Pomona winners.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Crosser reported on the Ohio Grange meeting they attended recently as county delegates. Articles were donated for a family burned out recently and a note of appreciation was read for the Thanksgiving basket donated by the group. There was group singing. Next meeting is Dec. 12 and a Christmas program will be presented.

Officers Hunt For Break In Mahoning Bombings

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The auto-bombing that killed Charles Cavallaro and his 11-year-old son seven days ago differs in two ways from 81 other unsolved booby-trap bombings in this steel city of 175,000 since 1952.

For the first time federal law-enforcement machinery, at the personal urging of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, is working to solve the crime.

Secondly, a public inclined to shrug off mayhem perpetrated by one gambler on another has been moved to anger and shame because two small boys were innocent victims in this newest bombing.

In addition to killing Thomas Cavallaro, 11, the bomb smashed the hip of his brother, Charles Jr., 12. The injured boy underwent surgery for five hours, was on the hospital critical list until Wednesday and may be crippled for life.

Whether the labors of the FBI and the aroused indignation of the community will keep this crime bomb when he stepped out the starter in his booby-trapped automobile last Friday. The two boys were with him in the car.

Neighbors say Charles Jr. does not remember much about the bombing. His room at the hospital is under police guard, and only close relatives are allowed to visit.

Youngstown Mayor Harry N. Savasten was in Washington Thursday for conferences concerning the bombing that killed Cavallaro and his son.

Youngstown Mayor In Washington Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry N. Savasten, mayor of Youngstown, Ohio, conferred Thursday with a top justice department official about the latest auto-bombing killings in Youngstown.

Savasten talked for half an hour with William G. Hundley, head of the organized crime and racketeering section of the Department's Criminal Division.

Savasten said afterwards that he is "even more sure now that the attorney general's office is cooperating to the fullest extent possible."

Coroner David Belinky issued an appeal to "decent people of Youngstown to wake up and help the authorities bring an end to these unspeakable atrocities" and added:

"There are people not directly involved in the bombing who know why this was done. I can conceive of no bond of allegiance requiring these persons to remain silent under the circumstances of death and injury of two innocent children."

FBI Talks To Boy About Bombing Case

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—FBI agents have talked to 12-year-old Charles Cavallaro Jr., but the FBI declined to say what, if anything, was learned about the bombing last week that killed the boy's father and his 11-year-old brother, Thomas.

Edward E. Hargett, special agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office who is leading the FBI investigation, would say only that his men had talked with the boy Thursday at his room in St. Elizabeth Hospital.

"Under no circumstances will we release any of the information we receive from anyone in this investigation," Hargett declared.

Charles (Cadillac Charlie) Cavallaro Sr., 60, touched off the

Gunman, Robber Placed On FBI's 10 Most Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI today placed John Kinchloe De Jarrette on its Ten Most Wanted fugitives list.

The FBI described De Jarrette as a highly dangerous gunman and bank robber and said he is charged with three bank robberies in a 42-day period which netted him almost $100,000.

De Jarrette reportedly is traveling with a 28-year-old girl friend. He is charged with robbing two banks in Louisville, Ky., and one in Cincinnati, and reportedly has vowed he would not be taken alive.

De Jarrette, 41, was described as white, 5-foot-11, 135-150 pounds, with brown hair and brown eyes. He has a tattoo of a cartoon on the inside of his left forearm.

Boys Life Magazine Available In Braille

LISBON — Bennett D. Taylor Jr., executive of the Columbiana County Boy Scout Council, said Boys Life magazine of the Boy Scouts is now available in Braille for blind boys.

The Library of Congress has placed copies of the Braille edition on a loan basis in each of the regional libraries for the blind and residents who desire to provide the magazine for blind youths may obtain subscriptions from the Cloverbrook Press, 6990 Hamilton Ave., Cincinnati 31, Ohio, a non-profit organization.

Christmas Carol Film Available At City Library

New Yule program material at the Carnegie Public Library includes the Coronet Films version of Dickens "Christmas Carol," which will be available after Wednesday at a modest fee, according to Miss Frances Jones librarian.

This 27-minute sound film uses two famous Hollywood stars. Frederic March is commentator and Basil Rathbone portrays Scrooge.

Three new filmstrips with sound background are also available. Walt Disney has prepared for The Society for Visual Education "The Story of the Nutcracker," a Christmas Eve fantasy based on Tchaikovsky's music and the famous opera. There are 33 pictures in this filmstrip.

Since music is one of the most nostalgic charms about Christmas, the library was fortunate in acquiring two strips which deal with different types of music: "Christmas in Sacred Music" and "Christmas in Folk Music." Each of these has 18 pictures accompanying the music.

Acquired in former years are 30 other filmstrip subjects and three motion pictures.

Herbert H. Wernecke, who has compiled many fine collections of Christmas customs in three earlier books, has a current volume, "Celebrating Christmas Around the World."

This book is unique in that it explores the observance of the nativity in the missions, The Congo, Armenia, China, Korea, Iraq and Thailand.

Officers Elected By West Firemen

Officers for the year were elected by the Liverpool Township West volunteer fire department Wednesday night at the LaCroft station.

Named were Reid Densmore, president; Homer Cronin, vice president; Fred Fryman, secretary; William Garren, treasurer, and Dale Emmerling, three-year trustee. All were re-elected except Cronin and Emmerling.

Department officers named were James E. Welch, captain; Milton Kountz, Ernest Jones, Andrew Hester and John Sell, lieutenants, and Fryman, representative to the firemen's dependent board.

The firemen and the auxiliary will hold a Christmas party for children Saturday, Dec. 22.

The final business meeting of the year will be Dec. 12. The first meeting of the new year will be Jan. 9.

Muscular Dystrophy Collections Reported

Several groups have reported collections for the countywide Muscular Dystrophy fund campaign.

The Negley Sew and Sew 4-H Club and Rainbow Girls of Negley collected $8 in Rogers. The Peppy Pals 4-H Club collected $40 in a house-to-house canvass of New Waterford.

The VFW and auxiliary collected $331.65 in a house-to-house canvass at Columbiana. They were aided by the Girl Scouts, Rainbow Girls and Newcomers Club.

Canisters will remain in county business places until the end of next week. Persons may make a contribution by mail to Muscular Dystrophy in care of their local Post Office. Miss Jane Royle of Salem is county chairman.

Palestine Shoplifter Fined And Sentenced

EAST PALESTINE — Wayne Defenbach, 50, of 115 W. Main St. drew a fine and jail term Wednesday on a shoplifting charge in the latest in a series of such cases.

Mayor Robert Harding fined Defenbach $100 and costs and sentenced him to six days in jail but cut the fine and sentence in half on good behavior.

Defenbach pleaded guilty to a charge filed by officials of the J. J. Newberry Store, alleging he took an automatic can opener valued at $20.

Another adult was fined and jailed several weeks ago on a similar complaint and several juveniles also have been cited.

Chips Are Down For 'Man's World'

Anyone who wants a share in the future of TV programs had better sit down now and write NBC a letter.

Otherwise the Nielsen rating system ("No one ever called me!") and a bunch of scared TV executives will be regurgitating today's Simple Simon entertainment at you Hal Humphrey for the next 20 years. The cancellation of "It's a Man's World" announced by NBC this week has nearly every producer in Hollywood saying, "See, what did I tell you? They don't want quality."

Hal Humphrey

THE "THEY" in this case refers to both the public and the TV networks. "It's a Man's World" has been watched closely by TV film producers in Hollywood because it was the one show of the season which bore the look of originality and experiment.

Peter Tewksbury, its creator-producer, thought he had the backing of NBC and the network's program vice president, Mort Werner. They bought "Man's World" and Tewksbury's reputation for TV hits such as "My Three Sons" and "Father Knows Best." But they chickened out.

"I went to New York to fight for the show, but they had made their decision two hours before I got there," Tewksbury reports. "They didn't want to debate the matter. It frightened me to see a network in the hands of this sacred-boy type of control."

WALTER SCOTT, vice president of NBC's TV network, cited the multi-network Nielsen rating of 8.6 for "Man's World" and compared it to the 20.1 for "To Tell the Truth" and the 13.7 for "Cheyenne," which both begin at the same Monday night hour on CBS and ABC.

"Naturally," says Tewksbury, "I pointed out that this particular Nielsen rating was the first all-purpose one of the season, that it already was three and a half weeks old and that only four 'Man's World' shows had been on the air when it was taken."

Scott and Werner did not deny these facts, but told Tewksbury that "ratings are all we can go by." They said there was "unrest" among the sponsors and affiliated stations and that by February it looked as if the series would be without any sponsors.

SO AGAIN, the TV audience is faced with ludicrous business of being told by rating man Nielsen what it likes and doesn't like. This is done by checking tuning "Audimeters" in some 1,800 of the 50 million homes, plus a few hundred home-kept diaries in various key cities.

Most of those Audimeters, by the way, have remained in the same homes for 10 years or more.

Nielsen, of course, always has maintained that this rating is only a guide and that there is margin for error. The networks and ad agencies echo these words, then shiver when one of their shows drops as much as five-tenths of a point.

Tewksbury knows this to be an old story, but, like many of us, he wants to prove conclusively that Nielsen's ratings are not always (or even a fair percentage of the time) reflecting the viewers' TV choices and tastes.

"I'M GOING to travel this country from coast to coast and speak before every group that will have me between now and Jan. 28 when 'Man's World' is scheduled to go off the air," says Tewksbury.

"I refused to believe people don't want quality in their entertainment, but I'm going to find out."

Every producer, writer and director in Hollywood will be watching Tewksbury's battle with interest and despair, because they've all been through the same mixer in one way or another.

But when a series of the quality of "Man's World" teeters on the brink of rating oblivion, it's time for the viewers to speak up — if they feel they are being put upon by a system in which their stake is protected only by speaking up.

Rep. Moore Won Over Bailey By 32,228 Margin

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Republican Rep. Arch A. Moore Jr. of Glen Dale won the 1st District Congressional seat in the Nov. 6 general election by a margin of 32,228 votes over Democratic Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey.

The Secretary of State's office reported Thursday that Moore received 97,556 votes in the district's 13 counties and Bailey polled 65,328.

The total vote of 162,884 represented 68.2 per cent of the number registered in the district. The registration included 145,169 Democrats, 92,107 Republicans and 1,537 independents.

A recount of the Nov. 6 votes in Taylor County completed Wednesday settled the tightest race of the election.

It gave Democrat Lloyd L. Shriver of Pruntytown, an automobile dealer, a total of 2,890 votes and Republican James H. Weekley, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe from Grafton, 2,878 for the county's House of Delegates seat. The official canvass had given each 2,872 votes.

When the 1963 Legislature convenes there will be 76 Democrats in the House against 24 Republicans.

Chester Commission To Install Park Light

The Chester Park Commission Wednesday night made plans to have a dusk-to-dawn light installed at the Community Building in the City Park.

Members decided also to obtain prices for dining tables, about 30-x-96 inches, for the building.

Harold Dickey, chairman, reported $75 was realized from a doubleheader midget football game played Nov. 21 at the park.

Next meeting is Dec. 12. The commission meets in the Community Building.

Broadcasting Firm Denied Application

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission has denied an application by the Friendly Broadcasting Co. (WCUY-FM, Cleveland Heights, Ohio) for remission or mitigation of $4,000 forfeiture ordered by the commission June 20 on allegations of willful or repeated violations of rules governing equipment tests.

The commission also announced it has received an application from WOXR-FM, Oxford, Ohio, to increase its power from 600 watts to 20 kilowatts.

Dean Of Cleveland Bankers Dies At 90

CLEVELAND (AP)—The dean of Cleveland bankers, John C. McHannan, 90, died Thursday in St. Luke's Hospital where he had been a patient about two weeks.

He was honorary board chairman of Central National Bank. He started work at the bank Oct. 1, 1892, as a $25-a-month collector-messenger and was the second oldest banker in Ohio in point of service with one institution.

Rail Merger Seen As Help In Competing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A merger between the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads would enable the new line to compete more with other forms of transportation and thereby better serve the public interest, a Pennsylvania vice president has testified.

Fred Carpi, first vice president for sales of the Pennsylvania Railroad told an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing Wednesday that a merger would:

"Materially benefit not only shippers of coal over the lines of the two railroads, but also the consumers of such coal and the public in general."

Government subsidy to the railroad's competitors has created a "surplus capacity in the nation's rail system" Walter W. Patchell, vice president of special services, for the Pennsylvania Railroad, told the commission Tuesday.

Testifying for the second time at hearings on the joint merger application, Patchell declared this problem "can only be met by the rearrangement of railroad plant and operations through mergers."

Almost $5 billion is being spent by the federal government alone in transportation subsidies in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, he pointed out. This sum is more than half the annual gross operating revenues of the nation's railroads.

The federal budget includes $3.4 billions for highways, including allocations from the Highway Trust Fund; $866 millions for aviation, and $622 millions for water transport. He emphasized that these funds are provided tax free for the benefit of the railroads' competitors.

"None of this government aid, such as the provision of facilities, direct operating subsidies, research and development, or operation of terminals, etc., has been extended to the railroads," he said.

"This has left the railroads with a physical plant having substantially excessive capacity in relation to today's needs."

Development of commercial motor vehicles and aircraft has caused considerable shift in the choice of modes used for transport, he declared.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I was fascinated by the letter from the woman whose husband believed that every human was an animal in a previous life. He kept pointing out to their daughter the physical characteristics of her boy friends and comparing them with baboons, pigs and so on.

I will go him one better—humans often behave like the animals they resemble. My father, for example, not only looked like a mule, he acted like one. He was stubborn and inflexible. My dear little mother had squirrel-like features. She was fast moving, sensitive and a great saver for the future.

My sister, Rita, resembled a cat. She had a purring voice, great gray eyes and absolutely no loyalty. Rita married four times—each time for more money.

I married a man who had a thin face, pointed ears and beady eyes. He turned out to be a rat in more ways than one.

I've seen many pictures of you, Ann, and I think you look like a lamb.—FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

Dear Ann: Your advice to Bonnie was excellent. When a wife says her husband always has been faithful and well behaved, is home every night and then suddenly she finds a woman's sweater and a pair of high-heeled shoes in the back seat of the car, she should confront him with it.

I was in the same spot a few years back and, luckily, an unexpected turn of events saved me.

My husband went to New Orleans to attend a convention. They thought it would be a cute idea to slip a pair of black lace panties into his suitcase. Of course I found the panties when I unpacked. They had been strategically placed with his pajamas.

When I handed "the evidence" to him he swore he knew nothing about it. I didn't believe him and said so. Then the phone rang. One of his buddies who was in on the prank had told his wife about it. She persuaded him the gag might lead to serious trouble, so he called me.

If I had said nothing and that phone call had not come, I would have believed the worst. —ANOTHER BONNIE.

President Opens Culture Crusade

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy led a big closed circuit television audience on the beginning of a $30-million culture crusade Thursday night.

He told the nation that when the dust of centuries has passed the United States "will be remembered not for our victories and defeats in battle or in politics, but for our contribution to the human spirit."

He was joined by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, tuned in from Augusta, Ga., in a non-partisan appeal for funds to build a national cultural center here. "A mecca for art," Eisenhower called it. He said it could give everyone who comes to Washington a better appreciation of America.

Kennedy opened the show—an extravaganza of the arts from ballet and drama to concert stage, Negro spiritual and poetry, all donated by the artists.

He said "as always, art knows no national boundaries" and "genius can speak at any time and the entire world will hear."

Mechem Elected To 6th Term As Leader In Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — C. Stanley Mechem of Nelsonville, who will begin his 21st year as a state senator Jan. 7, has been elected by acclamation to his sixth term as Republican leader of the Senate.

The 69-year-old legislative veteran was re-elected Thursday at the GOP Senate caucus, along with Thomas E. Bateman, veteran Republican Senate clerk who will start his 16th two-year term in that office.

Mechem has been majority leader of the Senate at four previous sessions and minority leader at one.

Only two senators were absent from the caucus, Sens. Tennyson Guyer of Findlay and James H. Grose of Hubbard.

As majority leader, Mechem will head the Committee on Committees which will select chairmen and members of a dozen study units. These in turn will tackle an expected deluge of legislative proposals.

Other members of the Committee on Committees are Sens. Ross Pepple of Lima, William H. Deddens of Cincinnati, Theodore M. Gray of Piqua and Robert R. Shaw of Columbus, all Republicans.

DiSalle Picks Woman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Hamilton County housewife with long experience as an elementary school teacher has been appointed by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to the State Board of Education. Mrs. Mildred M. Robison of Cleves succeeds Eric Weber, resigned. She is a former member of the Board of Managers of the Ohio PTA Congress.

Coast Guard Group Elects

New officers were elected by Flotilla 7 of the Coast Guard Auxiliary Wednesday night at the headquarters of the Wellsville Boat Club.

Named were Otis Weekley, commander; Harold Moore, vice commander, and William Keim, training officer.

Capt. Paul Shively and Vice Capt. George Muth of Division 7 of Pittsburgh were in charge of the election.

An invitation was received to participate in the "Change of Watch" and Christmas party slated Dec. 2 at 6 p.m. at the Versailles (Pa.) fire hall. The ceremony is an installation of officers for each unit. Wives also may attend.

Plans were made for reorganization and for a drive for new members.

The unit voted to increase annual dues from $4 to $5. Of this $2.50 will be paid to headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., $1 to Division 7 at Pittsburgh and $1.50 remains with the flotilla.

Next meeting is Jan. 8 at Wellsville.

Governor Takes Steps To Block Man's Execution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has moved to block the scheduled execution tonight of Lawson E. Schaber, although the 24-year-old Toledoan has been declared sane by Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

DiSalle, acting a few hours after Thursday's sanity ruling, said further legal steps will be taken in the case. Officials of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction have sought to prove Schaber is mentally ill and should be committed to Lima State Hospital.

Schaber was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the Feb. 18, 1960 slaying of Velma Byers, Toledo cab driver, during an $8 robbery.

He was scheduled to die last Friday but the governor granted a one-week stay pending determination of Schaber's mental condition and other legal problems.

Lacks Mother's Love

Dear Ann: I am a girl, 19, who always has lived at home but I can say truthfully I don't know my mother. We are polite to each other but we've never had a real conversation about anything.

It seems odd to me that I would crave mother love at this age. Is it normal? I never recall that my mother ever held me on her lap or kissed me. Through the years her remarks have been either critical or trivial.

I'm a top student and have always done well in school. People speak highly of me — everyone except my mother, that is. I can't remember her ever giving me a compliment.

My mother is a fine woman and greatly respected in the community. I've never told a soul that she is like a stranger to me. Somehow I feel better for having told you. Is there any way I can improve our relationship? —GRACE.

Sam Huff Almost Quit Pros . . .

"The Violent World of Sam Huff" at one time was not so violent, in fact it almost never happened. Earlier this week at the Beaver Local High School football banquet, "Chick" Donaldson, now an assistant coach at West Virginia University and a friend and former teammate of Huff's at WVU, passed this story along.

When Huff first went to try out with the New York Giants, after a brilliant college career, he wasn't given many opportunities to show his many talents. Huff stuck it out day after day, but never got a chance to play since the Giants were stocked with seasoned pros. Disgusted and disappointed, Huff packed his suitcase and headed for the train station and home.

Before he boarded the train, Huff was intercepted by one of the Giant coaches and talked into returning to the New York camp.

That same day a regular linebacker for the Giants suffered a knee injury and Huff asked to play that position, a spot he never played before. The Giants were in the midst of an intersquad scrimmage, so all Huff did was to rush the punter, block the kick, hold on to the ball and run for a touchdown.

Huff, who comes from a mining town in West Virginia and didn't have a suit of clothes when he entered WVU, is now making about $23,000 a year with his football contract and endorsements, Donaldson said.

Jucker Praises Cunningham . . .

SOPHOMORES figure prominently in the latest basketball news from the University of Cincinnati, but unfortunately for Bearcat followers the biggest item cannot be regarded as encouraging.

It centers on the future of newcomer Ron Krick, a 6-foot-8 center, who suffered a partial dislocation of his left shoulder during practice. Surgery may be required. If it is, then Krick probably will be out for the season.

Coach Ed Jucker reported on East Liverpool's Kenny Cunningham, listing him with another sophomore as excellent reserves.

He praised Cunningham and Fritz Meyer, another backcourt man, saying "both have unusual poise for this stage of the game and they're catching on how to quarterback the team, thanks very largely to help from Tony Yates (Cincy's captain and top guard)."

"What really impresses me," Jucker said "is their defensive ability. They fit into our scheme of defense with their quick hands and ball hawking talents, plus the fact that both are more than adequate outside shooters. And this quality in the guards has not been a strongpoint of late at Cincinnati."

Cincinnati meets DePauw Saturday night.

Spires With Ohio U. Frosh . . .

DOWN in the rolling hills of Southeastern Ohio, Don Spires, the two time All-State choice from Stanton Local, is a candidate for the Ohio University freshman team.

Don is the second tallest member of the squad, standing 6-foot-6½. He is a shade under his teammate, Dallas Newton, 6-foot-8, from Norwalk.

Kermit Blosser, freshman coach at OU, reported that Spires was doing a fine job and he feels that the former Stanton star may go on to be one of the finest cagers to come out of OU in some time.

The OU frosh will receive their first test Saturday, meeting the varsity squad.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

NEWELL'S Mick Staley, who holds the career scoring mark at Wells High, is one of six freshmen players listed on the Bethany College team. Bethany opens tomorrow night at Allegheny College. The Bisons have stepped up in competition this season with a date with Duquesne at Pittsburgh on Feb. 6.

WADE WATTS, who gave East Liverpool some golden years in football, came back into coaching this year after leaving the sport for several seasons, but it didn't take him long to get back into the swing of things.

Watts finished high on the list for Class A Coach of the Year in Ohio. His team at Fairfield Union near Lancaster lost only one game this season.

8 Games Launch Local Cage Season

Eight games this week-end will start the round ball rolling on another basketball season for the district's 17 schools. The majority of the local teams will mark time until next week but seven quintets are scheduled either tonight or Saturday.

The two featured contests fall on Saturday night when East Liverpool takes on Midland at the Midland gym and Stanton Local opens its new basketball plant with Brilliant visiting the new Stanton High School gym. Three games tonight has Canfield meeting East Palestine, while Jim Kress leads Crestview into North Lima and Jefferson Union travels to Salineville.

Besides the Potter-Midland game and the Stanton-Brilliant contest Saturday, Newell opens its season at Augusta while Crestview returns to action again with an engagement at Greenford and Salineville invades Jewett.

The Potters will be out to avenge a 59-43 loss to the Leopards suffered last season at Memorial Auditorium. The 1962-63 season found Midland the hottest team in the area as Coach Hank Kuzma's boys reeled off 24 straight victories to give Midland High its first undefeated basketball season.

Coach Jim Harris of the Potters will start four lettermen against the Leopards while Kuzma only has one veteran off the crack squad of a year ago. He is Bill Sallis, a strong rebounder and scorer.

Fans are reminded the reserve game will get underway Saturday night at 6:30 with the varsity tilt scheduled for about 8 p. m. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Graduation Hits Hard At Stanton

McCune Lone Letterman; Opener Set Saturday With Brilliant

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Graduation pretty well stripped Harry Diehl of some of the best basketball talent to come out of the Ironside area in many seasons.

Diehl will have to start from scratch, as the saying goes. Starting his third season at Stanton Local, Diehl has watched his two previous Raider quints go undefeated in the last two regular seasons. Last year's squad gained the District finals before falling along the wayside.

THE WEST VIRGINIA grad will get some indication as to what to expect this season when he sends his squad against Brilliant Saturday night on the spanking new gymnasium at Stanton Local High School.

Marlon McCuen, who stands close to 6-foot-2, is the only regular back from last year's team which went on to win 23 straight games. Lost from the squad was two time All - Ohio star Don Spires who had a four year total of 1,395 points at Stanton. Spires is now on the freshman team at Ohio U.

Also gone from the squad are Jim Leedy, Curt Rose, Bob Mills, Stan Wickham and Bob Perkins.

DIEHL pointed out that "the boys we have now give 100 per cent all the time. They'll do anything we ask them and work hard to see that it is accomplished." "We'll play a more deliberate brand of ball this season and won't be so wide open as in the past. We're going to be small." "McCuen is a good shot and rebounder, in fact he finished as the No. 2 rebounder behind Spires last year and averaged about 10 points a game," Diehl added.

THERE will be Spires in the pivot this year. He will be Larry Spires, a 6-foot-1 freshman and a brother of Don. Diehl said "for a freshman young Spires is good, his shooting is improving but like all freshmen he still makes some mistakes."

Joining McCuen and Spires in the starting lineup will be three of four cagers. Scott Porter, a 5-foot-11 senior and John Pearson a 5-foot-9 senior are up from the reserve squad last season along with a couple of sophomores, Larry Leo Burke, who hit two key home runs for the Los Angeles Angels in September, was the 1962 homer king in the American Association. He hit 27 four baggers for Dallas-Ft. Worth.

Mills at 5-foot-11 and Bob Reese at 5-foot-10. Reese will probably be the No. 1 replacement but may wind up with a starting job, Diehl commented.

Beaver Local Wrestlers Launch Season Saturday

Beaver Local, a wrestling power in the past, will open a new season Saturday night at 7 against Boardman at the Beaver Local gym.

Beaver Local has 14 matches plus a quadrangular affair on Dec. 8 with East Liverpool, Martins Ferry and South Side at the Beaver Local gym.

Returning veterans show three seniors in Keith Berger, a heavyweight, Gary Bookman, (145)

Other promising candidates include juniors Bill Grimes and Jim Moffett.

Army-Navy Clash Figured As Tossup Saturday

Sophomores Could Hold Key To Game's Outcome

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sophomores like Roger Staubach and John Seymour figure to play the biggest role in Saturday's 63rd Army-Navy football classic since yearlings dominated the 1953 game.

And if sophomores are supposed to be unpredictable so is the outcome of this bitter struggle which will be viewed by President Kennedy, 101,000 other Philadelphia Stadium spectators and a national television (CBS-TV, 1:30 P.M. EST) audience.

Neither bowl trips nor rankings are at stake yet victory never was more important in this hectic series and the pre-game war of nerves never hotter.

Like 1953, Army has lost the three previous meetings. In fact the Cadets have won only three of the last 12. Army Coach Paul Dietzel has done a hard-sell job on West Point morale aiming toward the mission for which he was lured away from Louisiana State in January—beat Navy.

Predecessor Dale Hall couldn't do it and was fired after dropping a 17-12 verdict to the Middies last year. Navy's Wayne Hardin, who thrives on controversy and has charged there may be an illegal handoff in the Army kickoff return play, has a burning desire to become the first coach in Annapolis annals to whip Army four straight.

Staubach is the amazing passer-runner who played only six minutes in the first three games, then took command as regular quarterback and has stood out even as the Middies have lost their last three starts. Fullback Pat Donnelly, linebacker Fred Marlin and other key figures also are sophomores.

Staubach has 1,009 yards in total offense and a 66 per cent pass completion mark. Donnelly is the top Middyie rusher.

On the Cadet side sophomores Seymour, Ray Paske and Don Parcells rank 1-3-4 in rushing yardage. Seymour, also No. 2 pass receiver, is one of six sophs on the GO team of offensive specialists.

Navy (4-5) has the edge in offense and toughness of schedule. Army (6-3) has the better record and defense.

Giants Picked To Gain Victory Needed For Title

By The Associated Press
The New York Giants, struggling off the pressure-packed schedule that exhausted them a year ago, face the Chicago Bears in Chicago Sunday needing only a victory in their final three games to nail down the National Football League's Eastern Conference title for the second straight year.

In winning the crown in 1961, the Giants played under the gun until the final Sunday while the Western Conference Champion Green Bay Packers clinched their title two weeks before the season's end and were fresh and relaxed in whumping the Giants 37-0 in the title game.

Now the shoe is on the other foot. Green Bay (10-1) has only a one-game lead in the West over the Detroit Lions (9-2) while New York, also 9-2, is 2½ over second-place Cleveland (6-4-1). The Packers are heavily favored to whip the Baltimore Colts (5-6) at home.

This week's picks (last week, 1 correct, 2 wrong, 1 tie; season: 11 correct, 39 wrong, 5 ties).

NFL
New York over Chicago—Giants improved running game has edge on so-so ground defense of Bears and Y. A. Tittle, Del Shoner and Frank Gifford have edge in air over Billy Wade, Johnny Morris, Mike Ditka and Co.

Green Bay over Los Angeles—Packers have had 10-day rest since thumping by Lions and have no more winning streak to worry about. Their offense and defense too strong for revamped Rams.

Detroit over Baltimore—Lions healthy again and rarin' to go after Green Bay's title if the Packers should slip. Colts will be tough to try to make up for 57-0 loss to Bears last week, but Detroit's defense will not budge.

Cleveland over Dallas—Quarterback Frank Ryan and fullback Jimmy Brown in high gear now while Cowboys strengthened with return of quarterback Eddie LeBaron.

Philadelphia over Washington—Eagles back on beam with Pete Retzlaff and Frank Budd giving Tommy McDonald some help in pass-receiving department.

Pittsburgh over St. Louis—Both have quarterback problems. Ed Brown running Steelers this week for beleaguered Bobby Layne while Cards just can't get started either with Etcheverry or young Charley Johnson.

San Francisco over Minnesota—49ers have put their offense in gear, aided by the roll-out running of quarterback John Brodie.

Set July 9 At Twins Park

At Last—Major Leagues To Play 1 All-Star Game

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The major leagues will return to one All-Star game in 1963. The game will be played on Tuesday, July 9, in Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The players, through their representatives, reluctantly agreed Thursday to drop the second All-Star game, at the request of the owners, who compromised by agreeing to relinquish all claim to All-Star receipts.

The players previously had received 60 per cent of the receipts, amounting to approximately $300,000. The other $200,000 went to the owners, who used the money, except for the commissioner's 5 per cent, to aid the minors.

As a result of the compromise, the players will receive 95 per cent of the one game. The other

5 per cent go to the commissioner's office for All-Star game expenses.

"We didn't want to buck the press and the public by pushing the second All-Star game down their throats any longer," said Bob Friend, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, the National League player representative.

Terms for the settlement were originally proposed by Commissioner Ford Frick, who was stoutly supported by Dan Topping, president of the New York Yankees.

Judge Robert Cannon, legal advisor of the players, who sat in on the meeting between the 20 player representatives and 20 club owners, said the players were very pleased with the new arrangement.

Red Kress, 55, Player, Coach In Majors, Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ralph (Red) Kress, who spent more than 25 years in the major leagues as a player and coach, is dead of a heart attack.

Kress, 55, was on the coaching staff of the New York Mets last season. His manager, Casey Stengel, said he was "the hardest working coach I ever saw" and "a great inspiration."

Kress died late Wednesday night at his home in suburban Canoga Park. He had taken an annual physical checkup only a week before and appeared to be in good health.

Kress played in the majors a dozen years, first with the old St. Louis Browns in 1927 and later with the Chicago White Sox, Washington Senators, Detroit Tigers and New York Giants. He appeared in 1,391 games, mostly as a shortstop, and had a career batting average of .286.

Willie Shoemaker has ridden in the last seven Garden State Stakes but didn't win the race until 1961 when he scored with Crimson Satan. This year he won the race with Crewman.

Hamill To Speak At Chester High Football Dinner

Carl Hamill, physical education director for the Junior High Schools in Hancock County, will be guest speaker when the Chester High football team is honored Saturday night at 6:30 with a banquet at the Masonic Temple.

The banquet is being sponsored by the football and Basketball Mothers Club, and players, their fathers, members of the coaching staff and cheerleaders will attend.

Chmielewski Signs With Tapers In ABL

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tapering Bill Chmielewski, who sparked the University of Dayton to the National Invitation championship last season, has signed with the Philadelphia Tapers of the American Basketball League.

The 6-foot-10, 240-pounder quit school last month for economic reasons. He said he needed to earn a living because his wife was expecting a baby.

Last season, Chmielewski averaged 26.7 points a game with the Flyers. He was named most valuable player of the NIT in New York.

NCAA, AAU At It Again In New Feud

By JERRY GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP)—The seething struggle between the AAU and NCAA for track control in the United States had boiled over into a new war of words today—two weeks after it seemed peace was in sight.

The NCAA, through its coaches united in the U.S. Track and Field Federation, charged the AAU with reneging on an agreement made in New York Nov. 13. The AAU replied there was a misunderstanding on details in the agreement.

The federation's charges came Thursday night, hours after the AAU's 35-man executive committee unanimously endorsed a track and field coalition which was formed at the New York truce meeting. That meeting, called by Atty. General Robert F. Kennedy, had been designed to end the 2½-year squabble and help toward insuring a strong U.S. team for the 1964 Olympics.

The coaches agree with the principle of a coalition. At issue is just what the coalition will do, particularly in international track competition.

The AAU insists it will continue to control U.S. participation in international meets. The NCAA argues the coalition—made up of several groups including the two warring bodies—eventually should have international control.

Soon after the endorsement, federation leaders held an urgent telephone pow-wow and agreed the AAU plan was unsatisfactory.

Sitting in on the conference phone call were Bill Russell, federation president and a district director of athletics in California; Chick Werner, Penn State coach and a federation executive director; and Don Canham, Michigan coach and a federation executive vice president.

Canham said the New York agreement stated in one of its points:

USC Out To Nail Down First Grid Crown For West Coast Since 1939

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, attempting to nail down the national championship for the West Coast for the first time since 1939, goes against rebounding Notre Dame Saturday in the climax game on college football's wind-up weekend of the regular season.

The program also includes such tidbits as the colorful, traditional Army-Navy clash in Philadelphia and closing action for national powers Mississippi, Alabama and Oklahoma.

Mississippi and Alabama are expected to announce acceptance of bids to the Sugar and Orange Bowls, respectively, immediately after their games, which would complete the line-up for the major post-season classics.

Southern Cal already has secured the Rose Bowl berth opposite Wisconsin, but must get past the Fighting Irish to complete an unblemished season and retain solid control of the No. 1 spot in the nation.

The Trojans rule a one-touchdown favorite to turn back the Irish, but a form reversal is a decided possibility.

Coach Joe Kuharich's lads from South Bend have stormed to four straight victories after a shaky start.

A crowd of about 85,000 is expected for the game in Los Angeles, while about 101,000 including President Kennedy are expected for the service classic in Philadelphia Stadium. The game also will get national television coverage (CBS, 1:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time).

It's strictly a pick-'em affair between the Cadets and the Middies, with President Kennedy expected to break tradition and go to midfield for the pre-game coin tossing.

Titles and bowl bids don't enter the picture for the colorful clash but Army pride does. Coach Paul Dietzel, hired this season to break Navy's string of three straight, has used his three-platoon magic to forge a 6-3 regular season record. Navy, seeking a record fourth straight over Army, is 4-5. Mississippi, ranked third in the nation, is a solid favorite to close out an unbeaten, untied season against Mississippi State. Alabama, No. 5 with an 8-1 record, also is favored over a tough Auburn team.

Oklahoma, No. 8, already has the Orange Bowl spot and the Big Eight title and has little but prestige at stake against Oklahoma State.

Scouts from both the Gator and Gotham Bowls are expected to scout the Florida-Miami night game, while Texas Christian still has some bowl hopes going into its game with Southern Methodist.

In other Saturday games, Georgia Tech and Georgia meet in their traditional affair, Tennessee is at Vanderbilt, Rice at Baylor, Virginia at Rutgers, UCLA at Utah, Holy Cross at Boston College and Cincinnati at Houston.

Major Colleges Open Cage Cards

By The Associated Press
The new major college basketball season opens tonight, with some of the regular powers of the sport involved in the handful of games.

The schedule remains a hand-off only for 24 hours. Saturday night, the collegians are at it in force, topped by the new season's debut of Cincinnati's two-time defending NCAA champions.

Illinois, expected to be among the national as well as Big Ten leaders, is host to Butler, Rice is at Georgia Tech, Brigham Young at Oregon, Santa Clara at Southern California, Denver at UCLA, Colorado State U. at Washington State, Utah State at Ohio State, Wisconsin at Air Force, Southern Illinois vs. St. Bonaventure at Buffalo, Santa Clara at UCLA, Colorado State U. at Washington, and Lafayette at Princeton.

Ohio State, ranked No. 1 nationally the last two years although beaten both times by Cincinnati in the NCAA final, tries its hand at winning without All-America Jerry Lucas. Big Luke has graduated along with John Havlicek and Mel Nowell, the other two parts of the tremendous trio that triggered the Buckeye team the last three years.

Findlay Tops Ohio's NAIA Grid Choices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Findlay College, which lost five of ten football games this season, has dominated the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) All-Ohio football team by placing six men among the top 22.

Coach of Ohio's 11 NAIA member schools, who selected the all-star squad, also chose fellow mentor Ken Mast of Bluffton as Ohio's top NAIA coach of the year.

Defiance, Baldwin-Wallace and Wilmington followed Findlay in the balloting with three stars each on the first offensive and defensive team. Bluffton and Ohio Northern placed two each on the squad and Ashland one. Four colleges failed to place a man among the first 22.

FRANKLY,

these are not custom-made shoes, but...

We doubt if anyone but an expert could tell a custom-made shoe and a Taylor Imperial apart. Both have the same superb shell cordovan leather — same custom pattern — same foot-conforming fit. Even in such small refinements as chammois-lined tongues, leather-bound tops and full leather linings, they are alike. Hidden in custom-made shoes, however, is costly handwork for which Taylor substitutes precise machine stitching. Result: all the rich visual appeal and wearing advantages of custom footwear — but at realistic prices.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Exercise Trims Off Added Inches

Shifting the pounds from one place to another more flattering spot is harder than losing them, some dieters complain.

The rewarding way out of that dilemma is to ease through a few well directed exercises. It takes the resistance out of exercise to know that they need not be rugged. The secret is to put the line of pull smack through the offending bulge, hold the muscle contraction and take a few shape-ups daily.

Have no doubts on the slimming measure... you will lose inches in the right places. This report gives beautiful proof...

"In one month I lost only 8½ pounds, but with the help of exercise I've lost a lot of inches in the right places. Here are the measurement changes in a single month. Bust, 39½, to 38½; waist 29½ to 27; hips 40½ to 39½."

THE LOST INCHES total almost five. Most of the slimming was done through the waistline. Now our streamliner wishes to slim more off the hips, so here are some specific calisthenics that hit the spot. An exercise is more slimming when the hip muscles take part in the lifting movement, as in the following two exercises. These exercises also strengthen the girdle muscles.

Position: Lie face downward on floor, head resting on folded hands.

Movement: Lifting legs slightly off floor, separate the legs widely. Be sure to lift with the hip and thigh muscles, do not slide legs. Bring legs together, again lifting. Continue for about 8 times counting stride and back together as 1. Relax.

Position: Same, stretched out on floor to full extension, face down.

Movement: Holding legs together and keeping knees straight, swing legs toward left, touching toes to floor at left side. Lift, do not slide. Then with legs still held together, swing legs over to the right side. Make sure to lift so that all the exercise action is done with hip and thigh muscles. Toes touch floor only at far side.

FINISH BY rolling over on your back and follow through with a tip to toe s-t-r-e-t-c-h. Relax and stretch again, about 3 times. Just that simple routine will bring streamlining returns, provided you do it daily.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for illustrated exercise leaflets entitled, "Slim Hips In A Hurry." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Miss America
Advises Girls In Cleveland Talk

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jacquelyn Jeanne Mayer, Miss America of 1963, advised an audience of some 400 Rotarians and their wives Thursday night to encourage young girls to participate in the Miss America contest.

"Whether a girl wins in the contest, even at the local level, is not the important thing," the 20-year-old Sandusky girl said at the Rotary Club's annual Ladies' night. "By simply competing she will develop her confidence, poise and personality—and be a better woman for it."

The dinner wound up a busy day for Miss America. It began with a session in Mayor Ralph S. Locher's office, where she was presented a key to the city. At noon, accompanied by the mayor, she appeared at the Salvation Army Christmas kettle at East 9th Street and Euclid Avenue and made the initial donation. She spent the afternoon making television and personal appearances.

Twin Sisters, 4, Die
In Fire At Alliance

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Four-year-old twin sisters died in a fire that destroyed their home on East Reed Street here shortly before midnight Thursday.

The victims—Sharon Marie and Karen Sue Blue—were pronounced dead at Alliance City Hospital after firemen found them in a bedroom of the two-story house. They were the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Blue.

An older brother, Benjamin Jr., 11, was admitted to the hospital suffering from smoke inhalation and shock. The parents escaped injury.

Cause of the fire was not determined and no estimate of the damage was available.

Cleveland's 2
Newspapers
Hit By Strike

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A surprise Teamsters Union strike against the city's two major daily newspapers today caused one of them—the Plain Dealer—to cease publication. The editor of the other—the Press and News—expressed optimism his paper would keep publishing.

Teamsters Local 473 began picketing the Plain Dealer and the Press and News in a contract dispute Thursday night. Stacks of newspaper bundles piled up on the morning Plain Dealer's loading dock as the pickets walked around. The papers were undelivered.

Thomas V. H. Vail, vice president of the Forest City Publishing Co., publisher of the Plain Dealer, notified Plain Dealer employees that publication of the newspaper would be discontinued until the strike is settled.

"You are no longer required to report for work and your compensation has ceased with the completion of the present shift," he said in a notice to employees posted in the various offices of the building.

Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the Press and News, said he was "going ahead on the assumption we will publish" today despite the Teamster picket line.

A Plain Dealer official said the strike came as a surprise after a day of quiet negotiations and expressed hope the strike would end as suddenly as it began.

It was the first time the city's newspapers had been shut down by labor trouble since November 1956, when the city was without its daily papers for 24 days.

He said the union had asked a $10 weekly increase this year. A company official put the present wage scale at $125.85 maximum a week for a 37½-hour week.

The Cleveland Newspaper Guild, representing editorial employees of the two newspapers, scheduled meetings today to determine whether Guild members would cross Teamster picket lines. The Press and News unit was called to a 10 a.m. meeting, and the Plain Dealer unit was to meet at noon.

Junior Editors Quiz on TOBACCO

QUESTION: Did Europeans know about tobacco before Columbus discovered America?

ANSWER: We don't really know that one of Columbus's sailors rushed up to a smoking native and tried to put him out with a bucket of water -- that is our artist's imagination. Yet it seems quite possible, because Columbus did see a native smoking a y-shaped pipe inserted in his nostrils. This was called a "tabaca," and the natives used the rolled-up leaves of a plant later called "nicotiana" to put in the end of the pipe and light. Smoking was an important ceremony to them. They also thought that tobacco had a healthful effect on the body. The use of tobacco was at that time unknown in Europe; but the early settlers in America soon learned about it from the Indians and started to plant it. One of the settlers of the Jamestown colony in Virginia, John Rolfe, who married the Indian princess Pocahontas, planted some tobacco seeds brought from South America. He sent tobacco to England, where its use had been encouraged by Sir Walter Raleigh. Soon the Jamestown colonists found they had a very valuable crop to export, one which helped them to survive and prosper.

FOR YOU TO DO. How many food plants can you list that were discovered in America?

Harold Jernigan of Oak Ridge, Tenn., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review. It may win $10 or the weekly award of a Britannica Junior Encyclopedia.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Nov. 30, the 334th day of 1962. There are 31 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this day in 1700, the battle of Narva was fought by King Charles XII of Sweden and the Russians under Peter the Great.

So great was the panic of the Russians that many threw themselves into the River Narva or surrendered.
On this day:
In 1706, the Church of England was made the religion of South Carolina.
In 1782, the preliminary treaty

ending the Revolutionary War was signed.
In 1853, a grand jury at Columbia, S. C., refused to indict the crew of the slave ship Echo.
In 1939, Russian air, land and sea forces attacked Finland.
In 1945, judges at the Nuremberg trials were surprised when Nazi Rudolph Hess admitted he was completely sane and prepared to stand trial as a war criminal.

Today's birthdays:
Sir Winston Churchill is 88.
Thought for today:
There is no finer investment for any community than putting milk into babies -- Sir Winston Churchill.
